IRAN TROOPS MASS AS WEDDING GOES ON

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Mechanized units of Iranian artillery, armored cars and tanks were sent to the Iraqi border today following a week of tension and radio duels between the two countries.

The stern military action came at the same time the Shah of Iran was taking his third wife, 21-year-old Farah Diba, in a glittering ceremony of oriental splendor in his marble palace here.

PHILIPPINES

100 Aboard Ship Lost In Typhoon

MANILA (AP)—The inter-island ship Rizal sank off Masbate Island, Central Philippines, at the height of typhoon Gilda last week and belated reports reaching here today listed 14 persons dead, 27 missing and 66 rescued.

Government agencies ordered all ships in the vicinity to go to the scene to help search for other possible survivors. Earlier reports said the Rizal was carrying 118 passengers and crew.

Meanwhile, the Manila rescue centre said it has still received no word regarding a motor launch reported missing, with about 100 school teachers aboard, off storm-ravaged Samar, one of the first central islands lashed by Gilda.

Communications with the central regions are still down, making immediate accurate reporting of the devastation virtually impossible.

De Gaulle To Canada

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle, due to visit the United States about the middle of April, also will pay a visit to Canada, External Affairs Minister Howard Green told reporters tonight.

A reliable source said Sunday that the French president would start his American visit April 19.

A ROYAL WEDDING . . .

Shah Goes to the Altar With Fate of His Throne

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi took a pretty young student as his third wife today in hopes that she will bear him a son who can help secure his throne.

Farah Diba, a 21-year-old commoner plucked from relative obscurity as an architecture student in Paris, becomes the Queen of this ancient land by the simple Moslem ceremony.

The handsome, 40-year-old Shah divorced his first two wives because they failed to bear him an heir to the throne. His first wife, an Egyptian princess, bore him a daughter.

Speaking to reporters Sunday, the Shah explained that aside from human reasons, he was marrying Farah for reasons "of a monarchical order." Iran's constitution requires that the successor to the throne be a male.

The marriage rites were surrounded by the ornate splendor of ancient Persia. The peacock throne itself has 12 pillars, each decorated with two gem-encrusted peacocks. It was built in the 17th century for the Indian Mogul Shah Jahan, builder of the Taj Mahal. The throne was carried off to Iran in 1739 by the Persian ruler, Nadir Shah.

The wedding schedule included, after the ceremony, a state banquet for 150 guests, and two hours later a wedding ball for some 2,000 in the palace's glittering Hall of Mirrors, where the Shah entertained President Eisenhower last week.

The couple will start their honeymoon in a few days on the Caspian Sea.

Meanwhile, at St. Moritz, Switzerland, Princess Soraya, the Shah's second wife, got a new hair-do today while her former husband, the Shah of Iran was marrying his third bride.

... AND ONE THAT ISN'T

PETER TOWNSEND
... civil and brief

MARIE-LUCE JAMAGNE
... kept secret

Peter Marries 'On the Quiet'

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Group Captain Peter Townsend, former suitor of Princess Margaret, today quietly married his 21-year-old Belgian secretary, Marie-Luce Jamagne.

Townsend, whose suit of Princess Margaret was broken off in a dramatic public statement by the princess in 1953, met his bride in Brussels.

She accompanied him on a round-the-world trip as his secretary and photographer. Townsend was retreating on that trip an earlier solo journey he had made shortly after his romance with the princess broke up.

Today's ceremony was a civil one performed by the burgomaster in the town hall.

"There was no religious ceremony of any kind," a friend of Townsend said. "It was brief. The formal ceremony took place in French. The burgomaster briefly addressed the couple in English, wishing them happiness."

Marie-Luce, a bit of a tomboy when she was younger, had little schooling after she suffered from the shock of a V-bomb attack on Antwerp toward the end of the war.

She took acting lessons in Paris and is interested in classical ballet dancing.

Townsend first met Marie-Luce when she was a young girl in pigtails. Marie-Luce, 20, is the daughter of a Belgian tobacco baron.

It had been expected they would be married early in 1960. Only a few intimate friends of the family were invited today, and they were asked to keep the wedding secret.

Townsend divorced his first wife. He has two teen-age sons.

Geneva Meeting Red 'Test'

PARIS (UPI) — The United States, Canada, Britain, France and Italy invited Russia and five other Communist nations today to open global disarmament talks March 15 in Geneva.

The five Western powers, plus Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Bulgaria belong to a 10-nation United Nations disarmament commission, formed to negotiate a halt in the East-West arms race.

Foreign ministers of the five Western powers issued the invitation to their Communist partners in the UN commission after meeting at the French foreign office today.

The Soviet Bloc nations will probably agree to the proposal, diplomatic sources believe.

The Geneva parley would start five weeks before the opening of the East-West summit conference.

TEST GROUND

The Geneva talks, diplomatic sources said, will provide a testing ground for the sincerity of Russia's intentions in the key disarmament field.

Disarmament has been singled out as the number one point for summit negotiation.

Success or failure of the Geneva talks therefore would bear heavily on the East-West summit conference.

Opening of the Geneva meeting would furthermore coincide with the day Khrushchev arrives in Paris for a state visit with French President Charles de Gaulle.

The disarmament commission was established last fall in reply to mounting concern among United Nations members over the quickening pace of the East-West arms race.

SERIES

The Geneva conference will consider a series of proposals worked out by both the Western and the Communist powers in an effort to achieve controlled disarmament.

All past efforts to meet this goal have failed.

At the top of the list would be the disarmament plan Khrushchev outlined before the UN General Assembly during his visit in the United States last September. It suggested total disarmament within four years, or failing that, a gradual limited abolishment of armaments.

The western master plan is expected to be an offer of a stage-by-stage disarmament under foolproof control, fathered by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

WIRE BRIEFS

Teacher Abducted

CHINOOK, Mont. (UPI)—A 16-year-old boy abducted a 19-year-old rural school teacher near here today and was captured about eight hours later after he released the girl, apparently unharmed.

17 Fishermen Missing

TAIPEI (UPI)—Three fishing boats with 17 crewmen aboard were reported missing today in the Formosa Straits, lashed by weekend gales.

Toronto Buses Idled

TORONTO (UPI)—The Christmas spirit helped a few stranded commuters today when motorists offered lifts to crowds at packed bus and streetcar depots as 23 per cent of Toronto's public transportation system was idled by a union dispute.

Sounds like journey's end for Townsend.

Seems they spend this year's international meetin' arrangin' for next year's and next year's cleanin' up last's year's.

Looks like a white post-Christmas — when th' bills come snowin' in.

THROWS HAT IN RING

Known throughout B.C. as a champion of municipalities in the struggle to cut home taxes, North Cowichan retiring reeve, Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Murison, CB, OBE, will seek Tory candidacy in Victoria. He was welcomed to fray by provincial party leader Deane Finlayson, right, today. See story, Page 21.

School Aid Plea Follows Pay Hike

By JOHN MIKA

The provincial government today was caught in a boiling riptide of demands for more school assistance following an arbitration award that gave 775 Greater Victoria teachers a salary boost for 1960 unofficially estimated at $500,000.

Mounting pressure for more grants and establishment of a government agency for centralizing bargaining with teachers rolled in from school board and municipal officials as well as newly announced contender for the Progressive Conservative nomination in the Victoria provincial constituency, Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Murison. His platform includes a major plank on school costs.

Exact cost of the award was still being tabulated today for presentation to a school board meeting tonight.

'Municipalities Need Relief'

"There's no way to fight it except to argue again with Education Minister Peterson and his colleagues that the municipalities need relief," said Mayor Scurrah.

The increase will not be shared by the provincial government under its present formula—which means an increase of about 12 per cent in the school taxes coming up for Greater Victoria.

The over-all increase in next year's total levy—combining general and school taxes—will be about 5 per cent in the city and about 3½ per cent in the outlying municipalities.

"This is a heavy blow to us," said Mayor Scurrah. "It means once again that necessary public works will have to be postponed—possibly needed work on roads, lighting, streets and parks."

"We'll certainly discuss it at today's meeting because it is bound to increase the unfair differential now working against the city of Victoria in relation to school costs."

'Province Should Take Over Pay'

William Gelling, finance chairman of the school board, who participated in unsuccessful negotiations preceding the arbitration, said the award pointed up the "absolute need" for a government-operated central bargaining agency.

"I think the provincial government should take over the whole business of teachers' salaries because that is the only possible way of exercising any control."

"Trustees just don't have any real control because with the 82 individual school districts, our throats are cut before we start. What happens on salaries in another district affects us directly, yet we have nothing to say about it."

The reeves of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt all said the tax increase will result in

IKE RIDES WITH FRANCO INTO MADRID

MADRID (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of cheering Spaniards today gave President Eisenhower the biggest welcome this country has roared out to a foreign visitor in modern times.

Flag-waving crowds lined the streets and hung from trees and jammed balconies as he rode into Madrid with Francisco Franco at his side. Eisenhower is the first major Western leader to visit the Spanish dictator, who wore his generalissimo's uniform.

BCE Wins Court Decision

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today granted the British Columbia Electric Company Limited and the B.C. Electric Railway Company Limited leave to appeal to the court against a judgment of the B.C. Appeal Court dealing with the setting of rates.

About a year ago the B.C. Public Utilities Commission asked the B.C. Appeal Court to rule on five questions of procedure followed by the commission in rate cases.

One of the questions — the one involved in the application for leave to appeal — is whether the commission in considering rate applications and in making decisions on such applications must allow for a fair rate of return.

The B.C. Appeal Court ruled in effect that the commission does not have to give this factor weight in making its decisions, or the weight the two companies feel the commission should give.

Paris Talks End

PARIS (CP) — The top statesmen of the Western world approved major announcements today on disarmament, Atlantic trade and an East-West meeting.

At a series of weekend meetings, the Big Four ministers set their seal on these decisions:

Russia is being invited to participate in a "revolving series" of summit meetings starting in Paris April 27. Other East-West parleys would be held in London, Washington or Moscow at regular intervals.

The Western five members of the 10-power disarmament committee will meet to discuss proposals for the committee, which will begin work early in the new year.

An economic negotiating commission consisting of representatives of Canada, the United States and the two European trading blocs will be appointed to consider a possible "Atlantic framework" designed to offset the danger of a split between the six-country Common Market and the "outer seven" European Free Trade area.

WILL STUDY AID

The commission will also study questions of western aid to under-developed countries. It will sit in Paris.

French circles hailed the commission as a harbinger of an "Atlantic supermarket" — encompassing more than 300,000,000 people, but conference sources stressed that there are serious difficulties to overcome.

"Atlantic free trade still seems distant," an informant said.

The decisions, described sketchily in communiques issued today at the windup of the meetings of the heads of government of Britain, France, the United States and West Germany, followed one of the busiest Western diplomatic weekends since the war.

NO MORE AT SUMMIT

The general communique ruled out any added starters in the East-West summit talks such as divided Germany, Red China or India.

The communique said the West's determination to yield to no threats on divided Berlin or surrender their basic interests there. West Berlin is the central issue facing the East-West summit meeting.

The communique said the West expressed "the hope that the proposed conference will contribute to the strengthening of peace with justice."

WILL DEFEND BERLIN

The communique reaffirmed the principles set forth in a four-power communique of Dec. 14, 1958, and the declaration of the North Atlantic Council of Dec. 16 that year. These documents pledged to defend Berlin against Soviet aggression.

Along with the communique, the Western powers made public the conditions they spelled out in notes to Premier Khrushchev inviting him to a summit meeting. These notes clearly imply the desirability of a series of such meetings.

Dief Going Home

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker will leave the capital tonight to spend Christmas with his ailing mother in Saskatoon and at his home in Prince Albert, Sask.

KOREAN CRIPPLED KIDDIES' FUND

'Good Work' Deadline Near

The Times' Korean Crippled Kiddies' Fund passed the $4300 mark today, with time running out in the campaign to build a rehabilitation centre for 155 injured children.

The drive on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee will finish next Monday to allow the USC to include donations in this year's budget.

There is no listing of weekend contributors today. These will be run Tuesday.

Meanwhile, originally plus is being used to raise money by various volunteer groups. The senior council, North Saanich High School, Sidney, had a dance Friday. The original plan was to have each student bring a 25-cent gift, but it was later changed to let those who had not already brought gifts to give 25 cents each to the fund.

They raised $4, brought to the Times' office by council treasurer Ruth Gardner.

And "B" Parkdale Cub Pack did much the same thing. The boys collected $5.26 for the suffering Korean children in lieu of giving gifts to each other.

Donations may be left or sent to the Times' downtown office, 1215 Broad; to the main office, 2631 Douglas, or to the residents at the Duncan office, 30 Kenneth Street. They are deductible for income tax purposes.

People and Things

WAKEFIELD, England — Guards at Wakefield prison have been ordered to seek out illicit stills in which convicts are believed to be producing moonshine liquor.

The search was ordered after several prisoners were found drunk.

Wakefield Prison is the centre of reform experiments "designed to restore prisoners' self-respect and develop any hidden talents."

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — Four thousand persons turned out Saturday for the Maori wedding of tribal chief Nikita Tare Anihana, 90, to Nahurehura Kaihe, 68. The bride arrived in a buggy drawn by two white horses driven by a granddaughter of the bridegroom.

BRANTFORD — Official eyebrows were raised here last week after police reported finding something new in the way of foreign matter in a city parking meter—a Russian 20-kopek piece.

The coin, which resembles a nickel and is worth about two cents, turned up in a meter shortly after a Communist party rally here.

MINEOLA, N.Y. — When detectives questioned John E. Whitfield about a tavern burglary, he raised his hands to protest his innocence.

Down slipped his trousers. Officers found in his pockets $20 in coins weighing down his beltless pants.

GLENDALE, Calif. — It's getting so a hard-working burglar can't even leave his loot unguarded.

Police said Robert Graham robbed a Glendale music store early today and was caught by passing police officers. While the officers were talking to Graham two other men stopped by—and started helping themselves to radios, hi-fi equipment and musical instruments Graham had placed in his car.

The officers arrested Charles Shively, 22, and Donald Simonds, 23, booking them along with Graham on suspicion of burglary.

CONDEMNED to death for eighth time since 1947 today was convict-author Caryl Chessman, who now is scheduled to enter the San Quentin gas chamber Feb. 19, subject to further appeals.

Former City Woman Dies In Berkeley

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, in Berkeley, California, for Mrs. William (Belle) Stevens, widely known in Victoria during the first quarter of this century.

Mrs. Stevens had been in failing health for some time, underwent surgery last week and died on Friday. She was 89.

Since the family took up residence in California, Mrs. Stevens had been a regular visitor to Victoria, renewing acquaintance with a host of old friends here.

She was an active member of the Eastern Star and known as a generous hostess at her Pine Street, Victoria West, home.

Mrs. Stevens is survived by her husband, Will, in Berkeley, two daughters, Mary and Florence; one son, William Jr., and several grandchildren, all in California.

Stolen Rum Recovered

Two cases of rum stolen from a sealed box-car in CNR freight yards early Wednesday were recovered intact by city detectives Friday, half-hidden on a roadside near S. J. Willis Junior High School.

A citizen reported to police at 4:50 p.m. that he found two cardboard cartons—unbroken with a piece of paper partly covering them in bushes 100 yards east of Rose on Topaz.

Cars Blown off Roads As Gales Whip Britain

LONDON (AP) — Strong gales which ripped across Britain Sunday blew two cars off the new high-speed motorway linking London and Birmingham.

One was blown over a 50-foot embankment. The driver, Morteza Alevi, a 21-year-old Indian living in Coventry, was killed. The other was blown on to the muddy shoulder of the road. Its occupants were not hurt.

The gale, with gusts ranging up to hurricane force, whipped up giant seas. "Santa Claus" ships taking Christmas supplies to the crews of lightships in the Bristol and English Channels were unable to leave port.

Coast guards said that with more gales forecast in the next couple of days the ships might not be able to leave before Wednesday.

High seas put off relief for the 50 people on the lonely island of Foula, 16 miles out from the Shetlands. It is seven weeks since the last mail ship called at the island and the local store has run out of tobacco, cigarettes, sugar, butter and margarine.

In London the winds snapped the top six feet off the Christmas tree in Trafalgar Square.

FAMILY LOSES MONTH'S CASH

Mrs. Jean Bienvu, 2615 Rose, is up against a tough time this Christmas unless someone returns her wallet.

She lost it Sunday night, either near her home or in front of Mac's Restaurant on Gorge Road.

The wallet contained $6. "It wasn't much, but it's all I have for a Christmas dinner for my two boys, and to buy them a present each. And it's all the money I'll have for the month."

She is on social assistance. The boys are aged 5 and 2½.

PRISON EXPERIMENT PAYS OFF

Christmas Family Party Big Success at Oakalla

VANCOUVER (CP) — A young father fondled his baby son for the first time, another sat with his aged mother talking of Christmas' past and others played with their children and promised to be home soon.

It was family day at Oakalla prison Sunday when more than 500 wives, parents and children mingled freely with prisoners for more than two hours in the empty buildings formerly used for young offenders.

Even some of the prisoners in the tough east wing, where addicts and repeaters are kept were allowed the special visiting privileges. And to keep the occasion as family-style as possible, guards wore business suits and were hardly noticed by visitors.

The move was an experiment and prison officials were more than pleased with its result.

"We arranged it to keep the families together but it also had a tremendous effect on the inmates," one official said.

"I hope we don't have to wait until next Christmas to have another family day like this."

U.S. Dockers Protest Special Ship Guard

SEATTLE (AP) — Thirty-seven longshoremen unloading a freighter here walked off the job Sunday night in protest to what they termed "working under the guns" of a Coast Guard security watch.

The ship, the Ss. Anna Bakke, arrived here Sunday from Vancouver, B.C. It had called at ports in the Orient, including Communist China.

Coast Guard security patrols are routinely assigned to ships which have called at Chinese ports.

The Coast Guard said the walk-off occurred after a longshoreman was ordered to put out a cigar.

Another 26 dock workers walked off their jobs after the 37 left.

'WENDIGO' AT SIDNEY

Music Enhances Children's Fantasy

Reviewed By John Poulton

A children's fantasy—"The Wendigo of the Forbidden Plateau"—made its debut at Sanscha Hall, Sidney, with three performances this weekend.

By well-known Victoria writer Avis Walton, it played to near capacity houses and despite production difficulties, was enjoyed by all.

"Wendigo" is an imaginative script and it was enhanced by the specially composed musical score by Chet Lambertson.

As presented by the Peninsula Players and directed by Aliso Rothery, it was readily apparent that much work had gone into settings and costumes by Marge McDougall, Marna Knutsen and Margaret Dixon.

However—apart from the bad acoustics—many lines, and therefore the continuity of the story, were lost by principal characters addressing the back of the stage or throwing away lines that required pointing.

Commendable characterizations were given by Frank Watts, playing the Professor, Ginger Norman as the Wendigo, Dorothy Rayburn as Miss Trillfinch and Beverly Hempill as Kawasa. Ken Smith as Ben Bush did a noble job.

BEARS SURE HIT

Perry, the boy in search of his father, was played enthusiastically by David Braden. Some nice work was done by the 15 little dancers and the green "tree" dresses were very attractive.

Perhaps the honors among the junior actors should go to the two little "Frisky" bears, so delightfully played by brother and sister, Tom and Mimi Henriksen. They were a joy to watch.

Organist Eric Edwards and pianist Mrs. W. Temple provided instrumental accompaniment and choreography was by Margaret Wilkinson and Anita Chippering.

SCHOOL AID

central bargaining authority which would hammer out a single teacher salary scale for the province.

The government should also assume the full burden of teacher salaries, which would raise its present 50 per cent average share of school costs to 65 per cent.

TIME HAS COME

"The time has come when this formula must be put to the court of public opinion and the homeowners are the judges. What better place to submit this issue than in the capital of the province," he said in explaining his decision to run for office here.

Only a week ago, a joint delegation of the UBCM and B.C. School Trustees' Association appealed to the provincial cabinet for a new formula on sharing teachers' salaries.

Instead of pegging a basic grant for teachers' salaries at an artificial level as at present (which in Greater Victoria means that the municipalities alone will have to pay the arbitration increase) they sought a realistic formula.

SITUATION SERIOUS

"The refusal of the government to accept teachers' salaries as they exist, and at the levels arrived at by negotiation and arbitration, is the main factor affecting the imbalance of distribution-of-costs that exists today," the joint brief said.

"We are not being rhetorical when we state the present situation is serious," it added, and "that next year it will be even more so and that the government should delay action no longer."

Reasons for the arbitration award were not known. Chairman J. Alan Baker and trustee nominee William McIntyre were not available for comment. Victor Dryer, teachers' nominee, is in Vancouver. Neither the school board nor the teachers' association has received copies of the arbitration award yet.

RESTORES PARITY

But the scale indicated that parity with the Vancouver metropolitan area was a consideration in the award.

Douglas-Clark, teachers' negotiating chairman, said he was satisfied with the award which "restores the principle of parity." He said parity was first obtained in 1956 by an arbitration award but the local teachers fell behind the Vancouver metropolitan scale during the last two years when a contract was signed "after bitter dispute."

Mr. Gelling, school board negotiating chairman, said he did not understand why Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver should be put on a par "because there are different factors involved. Why don't they pick the Okanagan for comparison?"

He said the new scale would put some Victoria teachers among the highest-paid in the province. About 25 per cent of them "now cost the taxpayers $45 a day each."

ALLOWS COMPETITION

Mr. Clark said teachers here were highly-qualified on the whole and it was important to maintain salary levels that would compete with other metropolitan areas for good teachers.

He pointed out that each year of training separating the six categories of salary scales was a year's credit at the University of B.C. The top scale, of six years, represents five years' training for a bachelor of education plus a year for the master of education degree.

Here is the breakdown: Teachers with six years' training will now get $5,000 to start, rising to $8,220 in 14 years. Previously it was $4,500 to start, increasing to $7,260 in 12 years.

There are 202 teachers involved in this group, at the high school level.

Teachers with five years' training will get $4,700 to start, increasing to $7,710 in 14 years. Before they received $4,200 to $6,600 over 12 years. These are mostly grade 10 to 12 teachers.

Teachers with four years' training—there are 73 of these—now have a salary schedule of $4,100 to $6,500 in 12 years. Previously they earned $3,800 to $6,000 over 11 years.

Teachers with three years' training, numbering 142, now receive $3,800, increasing to $5,800 over 10 years. Formerly they received $3,500 to $5,500. With two years' training, teachers now receive $3,400, increasing to $5,400 over 10 years. Before, they got $3,200 to $5,000 over the same period of time. There are 209 teachers involved.

Normal school graduates with one year training now get $3,000 to $3,600 over four years. They were receiving $2,800 to $3,400.

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU loses temper

Nehru Turns Chou Down Summons Peking Envoy

NEW-DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru today rejected Communist China's offer to meet Dec. 26 on the border problem and disclosed he had recalled the Indian ambassador from Peking for consultations.

"I find it quite impossible to go to Rangoon or any other place within the next few days," Nehru told parliament in replying to the offer by Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai. At one point in the speech he lost his temper at "warlike statements" by opposition members.

Nehru said he had read Chou's negotiation offer with "regret" and said it did nothing to lessen existing tensions. "I do not see how we can reach an agreement on principles when there is such a gap on facts," Nehru said.

Nehru offered earlier to negotiate when and if the Chinese withdrew from territory claimed by India.

In an exchange with one of the opposition members he shouted: "We will negotiate and negotiate and negotiate to the bitter end."

Socialist leader Acharya Skripiani suggested that stern action should be taken against Red China and Nehru took issue with his "warlike statements."

"Negotiations will go on so long as this government functions," Nehru said. But he left no doubt he was not ready to negotiate immediately on the basis of Chou's latest offer.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

RCAF Hunts Missing Plane

(Compiled From CP)

PRINCE GEORGE — Nine RCAF planes today joined in a search for an American single-engine plane with two men aboard, missing on a 700-mile flight in northeastern B.C.

The plane, with bush pilot Bob Cooper and businessman Don Anderson, both of Fairbanks, aboard, disappeared Friday on a flight from here to Watson Lake, Yukon, via Dawson Creek and the Alaska Highway.

The search today will centre around Fort St. John, B.C., about 200 miles northeast of here. A search by five planes Sunday in the Chetwynd, B.C., area proved fruitless.

The men were returning to Fairbanks with stops en route. Watson Lake was to be an overnight stop Saturday.

SKIN DIVERS HELP

VANCOUVER — About 100 skin divers, ranging in age from 13 to almost 60, dived in icy waters of Howe Sound Sunday in a three-hour "treasure hunt" designed to aid B.C.'s crippled children. The hunt, for merchandise tokens strewn at depths ranging to 60 feet, drew $115 in entrance fees—which were handed over to the B.C. Society for Crippled Children.

P. H. MOORE DIES

NEW WESTMINSTER — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for P. H. (Pete) Moore, 76, former director of provincial government farms and a cattle breeder whose herds achieved fame throughout North America. He died Friday.

Born in Shubenacadie, N.S., and educated at Truro Agricultural College, Mr. Moore came to B.C. in 1910. He joined the provincial government service in 1917 and subsequently became director of farms at Essondale, Tranquille and Colquitz.

One of the few men to be named a master breeder of Holstein cattle, he produced a cow selected by the Holstein Association as the "All-time, all-American, best two-year-old ever produced."

ROADBLOCKS USED

VANCOUVER — The police checked 650 motorists at "flying" roadblocks Saturday but found only two impaired drivers. Police said the big test for motorists begins this week, however. In all, five charges of impaired driving and one of drunken driving were laid on Saturday.

AID FOR CCF SUPPORTED BY LOGGERS

VANCOUVER (CP)—A provincial loggers' convention Saturday gave unanimous support to the B.C. Federation of Labor's policy in expanding political and financial support to the CCF party in the next provincial election.

Some 80 delegates, representing 5,000 loggers of Local 171 of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA), also went on record during a two-day convention as opposing the Trades Union Act—known as Bill 43 when passed by the legislature.

Travellers 'Envoys'

Travelling this Christmas? B.C. residents going abroad or visiting in other provinces may now go as unofficial envoys. The B.C. travel bureau will supply a "B.C. Information Kit," filled with colorful tourist literature.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle C. Westwood said the idea of making every B.C. traveller a booster followed the increase in the number of residents taking winter vacations in California, Mexico and Hawaii.

Teachers Study 'Rating System'

A plan to place teachers in three categories, based on experience, ability and formal education will be placed before the Easter general meeting of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, the federation executive announced Sunday.

"Several local associations have had meetings to discuss the plan," Stan Evans, federation executive officer, said, "and most have been favorable to the general principles involved."

Saanich, Oak Bay Building Drops During December

Saanich and Oak Bay building departments reported sharp reductions in construction activity during the first two weeks of this month.

Saanich issued house-construction permits valued at $255,000 and Oak Bay issued only one permit, worth $14,000.

But Esquimalt showed an increase over the corresponding period last year by issued permits for five houses worth $70,500, and one for a $20,000 apartment block.

Fire Hits Temple

VANCOUVER (CP)—Damage was estimated at $15,000 in a fire at the East Indian community's Sikh Temple here Sunday. The fire destroyed the kitchen of the temple and disrupted plans for a major religious festival.

Let's talk
REAL ESTATE
By JACK MEARS

At this time of the year our main thought is to wish all our many friends and clients a Merry Christmas and a very prosperous year in 1960.

The children are now all home from school and Christmas preparations and parties are in full swing. Far be it from me to throw a damper on these festivities but I do wish to remind you that many fires are caused at this time of the year by overloading home wiring with decorations and by decorations catching fire. There is nothing that can truly compensate for accidents to children or grown-ups, but at least it is comparatively easy at little cost to guard against financial loss. Now is the time to check that your insurance is in order and if this is not the case to call your agent immediately. If you haven't got one, give us a call and we will be pleased to help. However, I do want to make this clear—this is not a gimmick to bring in business. Please be careful; decorations can be dangerous and it is far, far better to be safe than sorry.

Having said my little piece for this week, once more let us wish you a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year from one and all at Oak Bay Realty.

Trade or Perish

MR. LESTER B. PEARSON IS laying trans-Atlantic trade on the line as a major issue in the practical politics of Canada.

His speech in Regina the other day indicates clearly that he intends to fight for a new economic community of the Western World and against what he considers a ruinous policy of trade restriction.

"Our government at Ottawa should jump at the chance of extending economic lines across the Atlantic," he said. "If we don't extend those lines, we will be thrown into the dominion of the United States. This is a matter of life and death, politically and economically, for Canada."

This is a restatement, with added emphasis, of the position he has taken publicly as far back as the formation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It was largely due to Canada's urging that Article Two of the treaty called upon the parties involved "to eliminate conflict in their international economic policies and . . . encourage economic collaboration between any or all of them."

The danger of Canada being "thrown into the dominion of the United States" and losing its identity needs little elaboration here. As a nation living on its exports, we know how seriously dependent we have become on the United States and how essential it is to national well-being to diversify our markets.

Mr. Diefenbaker apparently recognized that fact when he called, early in his administration, for the diversion of 15 per cent of Canada's trade away from the United States to Great Britain. It is unfortunate that he fled in terror when Britain offered him free trade at the ensuing Montreal conference.

More unfortunate still is his subsequent yielding to the protectionist interest of industrial Canada.

Mr. Pearson's advocacy of closer economic ties with nations across the Atlantic comes at a time when the climate is increasingly favorable for such a development. In the first instance, a move of this nature seems imperative if NATO is to survive, for it must have a broader base than military coalition.

The need for closer integration has been underscored by Mr. Dean Acheson, former secretary of state for the United States. Speaking a short time ago at a meeting in Bonn Mr. Acheson proposed means by which the alliance could be cemented more firmly.

He suggested a council of ministers and an assembly of legislators and "highly respected citizens" of a number of countries with powers to criticize member governments and act as a consultative agency.

Without defining the relationship between the proposed organization and NATO, he did specify that it would limit its field to political and economic policy.

"This idea for a wider framework," said Mr. Acheson, "accords with the idea that the future must be a time of growth. A new step forward is overdue . . ."

The proposals the distinguished American has put forward should claim study in London, Washington and Paris. They should claim no less study in Ottawa for reasons made abundantly clear by Mr. Pearson.

Their significance is heightened by the development of the European Common Market and the Outer Seven, whose arrangements are broad enough to invite Canadian participation.

In Winnipeg, at the end of November, Mr. Gordon Churchill, minister of trade, promised that Canada would "continue to use all the influence at our command to ensure that opportunities for our exporters are in no way diminished" as the result of the trade alignments in Europe.

This is encouraging talk. It remains only that, however, if Canada's Government fails to match it by appropriate action.

Canada is vitally interested in strengthening the Atlantic community. But it serves no purpose to shout this from our doorstep and then slam the door against the two-way flow of trade essential to create strength.

Reversing the Trend

AN ALARMING AFTERMATH of the recent relaxation of East-West tensions is noted by some observers of the European scene. Among them is Joseph C. Harsch, an informed correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, who traces a tightening of Russian control throughout the satellite countries in recent weeks. Is this, he asks, a deliberate Soviet policy growing out of the Khrushchev-Eisenhower easement?

In Poland, it is reported that a number of government figures associated with the post-1956 relaxation period have been ousted and replaced by "hard-policy" pro-Stalinist figures.

"It is difficult to avoid the conclusion," writes Mr. Harsch, "that Moscow is reviving control over the political as well as economic life of Poland."

From Hungary comes a flood of rumors that a fresh wave of executions is under way. Few of these are yet substantiated, but the fear, Mr. Harsch says, is that "things are happening in Hungary of which the Government is ashamed and which it wishes to conceal."

What does all this imply? Is relaxation of tensions a Russian commodity for export only and not for satellite use? Certainly there is a disturbing disparity between Soviet policy in the satellites and abroad, which at once raises the question: Which is the real face of Communism?

Deep in the Heart of Texas

IN A SORT OF GLIT BY ASSOCIATION, the term following the adjective "Texas" is usually expected to be "oil millionaire". But according to a recent penetrating research study, if the Lone Star State wishes to assure its future expansion it will have to consider other resources than petroleum.

Texas, says a special group sponsored by the Houston Chamber of Commerce, had better heed such things as timber and particularly water.

The committee recognizes the growth and importance of recent industrial development. But, say the researchers, the state could "remain static or have a slowly declining economy" if it fails to make efficient use of all its resources.

The prospects for timber, given an efficient reforestation program, could be good. So could certain mineral development if it were pursued intelligently.

But the major potential for progress, the experts suggest, lies in better utilization of water resources, adequate in some localities, wasted in others and absent in certain arid regions.

The water situation, says the report, is so critical that "whether we go ahead or retrogress depends entirely on the adequacy and rapid execution of a state-wide water program."

Taking the available water from locations in which it is over-abundant to sections where it is absent would be an undertaking of heroic proportions. But since Texans roared and branded the word "big," it does not seem beyond possibility.

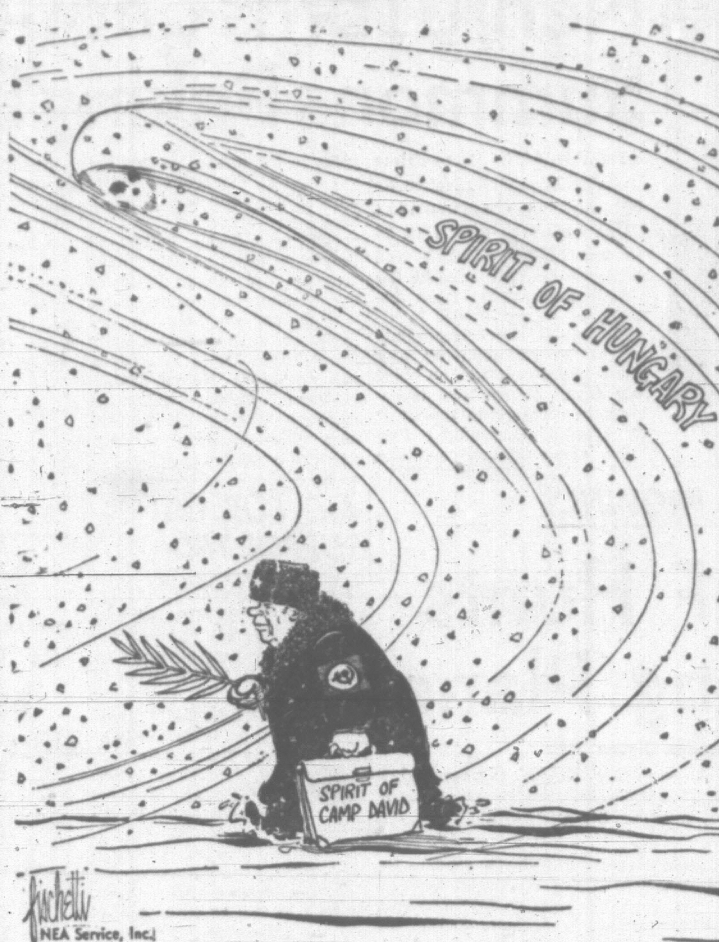

The design for the future—an expansive and diversified development program making wise use of resources—should create interest in British Columbia. Here we have an abundance of water—and may still use it prudently. And here, also, we have an abundant supply of timber, but if Texas turns to reforestation, our markets for that product could be still further curtailed.

An Excellent Job

PREMIER BENNETT AND HIS Recreation and Conservation department deserve warm congratulations on publication of the second issue of the pamphlet "Beautiful B.C." In particular, thanks should be expressed to Hon. Earl Westwood, Dr. David B. Turner and Mr. Ron Gadsby for the excellent promotional effort encompassed in this publication.

Magnificently illustrated in full color, "Beautiful B.C." covers virtually the entire province and demonstrates clearly that this is a land of unparalleled scenic attractions. The book should be disseminated as widely as possible, and will undoubtedly prove an asset to those most closely concerned with tourist promotion.

WHAT TO DO

By B. A. TOBIN

When There Isn't Elbow Room

EXPERTS know more than average folk so they have more to worry about. One of the things they've had on their minds for quite a while now is the water table—the level of water in the soil. Most of us are concerned only about the water we see on the surface—the lakes and ponds, and in a rain storm perhaps big puddles near the house. The lakes are permanent, the ponds may be seasonal, and the puddles disappear within a few hours. Some of the puddle water evaporates, but a good deal of it sinks into the ground and finds the level of the water table.

Tobin

The water table is thus a sort of underground surface for the water we don't see. If that surface comes too high, we have flooding. If it sinks too low we run into immediate soil problems, as well as shrinking water supplies.

Falling Level

What bothers the experts is that the water table over many parts of the continent is dropping. They're worried about future water sources and soil conditions if the trend continues and there doesn't seem to be much we can do about it.

But now comes a new problem. The water that is still left to us is becoming polluted. Just as the lake or stream near a camping spot can be spoiled if too many people settle beside it, so the waters of the continent are being dirtied in areas where industry and population are concentrated.

Victoria, of course, enjoys a favored position. We've dirtied some of our beaches but our drinking water supply is still safe.

But what of great inland communities in the United States where an adjacent river is the only source of water? Industrial plants pour their waste products into the stream, households by the thousands empty sewage and kitchen wastes into it. Sewage plants and industrial regulations may hold down the pollution somewhat, but the end result must be an increase in dirt and germs beyond a safe level.

Grave Crisis

And if this is the situation now, what will it be in 20 years, or 50?

One United States expert, Arthur S. Flemming, warns: "We may be confronted with a crisis of such gravity as to jeopardize the further growth and development of many areas of the country and even the health and welfare of millions of Americans."

As though this were not enough, the new danger of radioactivity has been added. Already some areas of the United States are said to be using river water with far more than the acceptable amount of radiation, caused by wastes from plants involved in atomic work.

As more and more radioactive materials are used this form of pollution is bound to increase, adding its dangers to those of the radioactive materials which land on earth from atomic fallout.

And now as a background add the so-called population explosion which is boosting the earth's roll call by millions every year.

Dr. Alan Gregg, vice-president of the Rockefeller Foundation, once described this enormous population increase by saying, "The world has cancer, and the cancer cell is man." Already the scientists are estimating the survival time left for the human race if the present rate of increase is maintained. As in any case of overcrowding, sanitation will be one of the most pressing problems.

More for Less

It would be foolish, of course, to underestimate the possibilities of science in coping with the difficulties ahead. Almost any problem that presents itself can be solved in one way or another.

But it is obvious that more and more of man's energies and skills will have to be consumed in overcoming the disadvantages of overcrowding, more and more wealth will go into merely combating the dangerous effects of our increasing occupancy of the earth.

Effort that might have been devoted to future progress will have to be diverted into negating the effects of past progress. As in the mad predicament of Alice Through the Looking Glass, we'll have to run faster just to stay where we are.

Like the mythical salmon stream which was dammed to provide power to produce synthetic food to take the place of salmon which had been exterminated by the dam, our world may find much of its activities devoted merely to breaking even. If the power output of the atomic plant must be used to dispose of the lethal atomic waste, for instance, how much farther ahead will we be?

Pity the experts who must figure it out.

WHO'LL CARVE?

In my opinion sculpture is the ideal occupation for anybody, everybody. It keeps you fit physically. If you live in the country as I do, it gets you into the open air. I can carve and do my sculpture on a fine summer's day outside, and not feel that I'm wasting a lovely day by having to be in the house. Your inventive, creative side is given its chance, but not so taxed that you're in a nervous, neurotic state, because, particularly in carving, after having decided to take a corner off in a certain place it may take three or four days to do it, and that's only like gardening. It's wonderfully balanced occupation.

FROM PARIS

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Behind the NATO Doors

THE inner history of a recent moment of tension in the Atlantic Alliance, which has never been told quite correctly, is worth telling now for the light it sheds on the West's current frictions. In brief, the able secretary-general of NATO, Paul Henri Spaak, not long ago made a trip to Washington, where he heard about the treasury-budget bureau drive to recall two American divisions from Europe.

Alsop

On his return to Paris, Spaak passed the word among the NATO allies that they had better meet their NATO pledges more faithfully, lest the American departure from Europe begin. He cited as evidence the serious argument then going on in Washington about the two divisions.

A little later, German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer came to Paris to visit his old friend Gen. de Gaulle. He was first received by the French Prime Minister Michel Debre. In his talk with Adenauer, Debre mentioned Spaak's warning, but not as proof of the need to meet all NATO pledges.

Begin Planning

He used it, rather, as proof that the European nations had better begin planning how to defend themselves when and if the Americans should have departed. Adenauer did not take it in a matter of fact spirit, however.

The Chancellor was both horrified by the mere mention of the possibility of American withdrawal and enraged because Debre did not appear to be equally horrified. In the sequel, Adenauer was reassured by Gen. de Gaulle.

The French President both declared his absolute loyalty to the Atlantic Alliance, and assured Adenauer that he too would regard an American withdrawal from Europe as a real catastrophe. Yet the incident still left a small residue of disquiet in the minds of the Germans.

This fragment of inner history is so interesting because it says much about two quite different sets of problems—those confronting Gen. de Gaulle and those confronting President Eisenhower. For de Gaulle, in brief, the Adenauer-Debre incident implied the existence of certain limits beyond which French policy cannot safely go.

In theory, of course, de Gaulle can engineer a classic "reversal of alliances," by reviving the Franco-Russian pact of the past. In practice, as he indicated to Adenauer, nothing could be further from de Gaulle's thoughts. But if he does not wish to reverse his alliances, de Gaulle cannot go too far in the direction of the old fashioned, freely manoeuvring, purely national diplomacy which is natural to him.

If he seems to attack the unity of the West or the workability of NATO, de Gaulle will face a solid, angry, united front of all the other Western powers, headed by his own particular friend, the German Chancellor.

Growing Doubts

For President Eisenhower, meanwhile, the Adenauer-Debre incident also had certain unpalatable implications. In Europe generally, and here in France particularly, there are growing doubts about the firmness of American leadership of the West and about the finality of America's position as a partner in Europe. The twist Premier Debre gave to Secretary Spaak's warning plainly suggests how easily these doubts can be aroused and how strong they can become.

Since arriving here, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has been working hard and well to still these doubts. Having taken the lead in blocking the Treasury-Budget Bureau drive to recall the two divisions, Herter is now manfully seeking to tidy up that drive's unfortunate after-effects.

But it would surely have been better if the President had told the Treasury and Budget Bureau at the outset that the subject could not even be discussed at this time. Then Secretary Herter would not need to keep assuring the Europeans that the United States is here to stay, while he quite properly urges them to bear their own share of the burden of Western defence.

Winning Friends (Canine)

After all the ridiculous things said by the dog-hater I am compelled to speak my piece. I can dare say he knows that the dog is "man's best friend," and should be treated as such.

As for his dangerous mission, I feel if he was a little pleasanter towards them he would be rewarded greatly by dogs. Dogs can be just as mean and vicious as human beings if not enough affection is shown. He should try buying some dog tid-bits and while on his walk throw a few to the enraptured canine. Nine times out of ten he will win himself a friend.

I am sure the authorities will not change any dog laws on account of his high blood pressure.

I can understand how some people are naturally afraid of dogs but they shouldn't go as far as threatening them with a switch blade umbrella.

Unions and Business

Unions have achieved their present position largely through public indulgence and apathy, and if the public becomes less indulgent, union power can be curbed. What is needed is a general awakening to the real nature of the problem.

In its fundamentals, monopoly power is the same whether used by laborers or business men, and it has the same adverse effect on the rest of society, with an inflationary influence to be added in the case of labor.

Business has been subjected to monopoly regulations, how much longer will it go unregulated in the labor area? Will the rest of society idly accept the principle that a labor union's freedom in the pursuit of its own self-interest shall be unlimited and unrestrained?

Write to your M.P. and M.L.A. what you really think and, if enough do so they will have to do something about the conditions we find ourselves in.

We wish to thank the Victoria Kinsmen Club for the wonderful surprise given to our family. We will always remember the happy moment of meeting our mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Holland, for the first time as the Mystery Guest at the Kinsmen-Giant-Bingo game December 13, 1959.

We also wish to thank the Kinsmen for the lovely gifts that were so generously given to us. You have made this a truly Merry Christmas and we sincerely hope your Christmas is as joyful and happy.

Once again, thank you.

Canadians of the Month

Mr. Winch on his return from a lengthy trip states he has progressed further in the matter of completing his education insofar as world trade and economics are concerned, and more particularly as they concern our province of British Columbia. Of course he has discovered a condition which has been developing for some time, and so-called leaders of groups of "card holders" have deliberately ignored the signs, and preferred to play "ostrich."

I would suggest Mr. Winch elaborate on the objectives of the "inner six" and "outer seven," two powerful groups of nations located in Europe which includes Great Britain. These groups have brought into being trade pacts, which make them independent of the North American continent. If the trend continues, we in Canada will be playing marbles with the United States in each others' backyards. It is a well known fact that we on the West Coast have been priced out of the market, and sending telegrams or travelling "cap in hand" to Ottawa will not improve the situation. "Card holders" will buy where they can get the cheapest whether the goods are made in Timbuctoo, Red China, or Japan, just like the remainder of the buying public.

Mr. Winch, although I am not of his persuasion, has done the province of British Columbia a great service by his forthright utterances, and it is hoped his observations will be thoroughly analyzed by all concerned, and the drift stopped.

Then we have Premier Smallwood who like many more true Canadians says that the Union Jack is good enough for Newfoundland, a land of rugged people, and braw fighters. I feel sure that combat veterans will agree that the old flag was a mighty fine sight when seen in all parts of the world, and more important it commanded respect from all our Allies and fear on the part of our enemies. However if proponents of a new flag with a suggestion, I would think the dollar sign and a feathered would be very appropriate, with the caption reading "We never had it so soft."

"Then There is Providence"

Permit me to comment on your "birth-control" editorial of 14th inst. You are right with regard to freedom of the individual conscience. Minority rights must be protected too. The people rule under democracy, not the majority only.

As you note, for Catholics "birth-control" is a sin, a very grave sin; no doubt millions of others believe it immoral. Even those who do practise it do not, as a rule, wish to force it on others. But there is a pressure group of propagandists in a frenzy to do so, who represent themselves as the majority of the people, and wish to involve the nation in their dirty work.

Thirty-six million Americans, and forty-one per cent of our Canadian population, are Catholics; and many millions more Christians would resent being involved in this propaganda. Our government represents all, acts for all, not a group of fanatics, or even a majority, but for the whole nation. It must not be a cat's paw. As for an imaginary, or even a real, threat of future catastrophe: the end does not ever justify the means. Christians may trust the God who once reduced earth's population to a family group, and once fed five thousand on a few loaves and fishes.

About your "apparent facts": (1) Crowded lands whose religions do not forbid it will practise "birth-control," aided by other western countries. Well, why involve us? Incidentally all pagan lands have Christians and prospective Christians.

(2) It is hypocrisy for a continent practising "birth-control" to forbid others, or refuse them knowledge of it. Continents, or countries, do not practise it; but many people do. There is no question of our forbidding it, at all, but these who wish to promote it might do so on their own without trying to commit a government which represents equally those who are opposed.

(3) Our continent will never be safe as long as most of mankind are over-crowded to poverty, envy and future aggression. Once Pharaoh would restrict a "lesser breed" by drowning their babies; but he and company were themselves drowned in the sea. Why lower immigration barriers? On "birth-control" should soon provide more room. Science should then obtain the food, as we here have had our st. pluses. Then there is Providence.

Pre-Christmas Lull

I AM writing on my knee beside an open fire, for now the house is peaceful and quiet, and the rest of the family has gone to bed.

It's an untidy peace and quiet, since, as I write this, Christmas is still a week away, and we're still in a glorious muddle of college books, Christmas cards, records, magazines and papers. (As well as all my little lists headed "I Must Not Forget!")

But the surface untidiness doesn't bother me because I know that beneath the apparent muddle, everything is well under control, though there may be a flummox or two before the final day, and I don't quite see how I'm going to manage a column for Christmas Eve.

However, I'm not letting that rattle me because from here, beside the fire, the paper and the agitations of the outer world seem very far away.

I always feel that this detached mood is a precious part of Christmas. Though, naturally, no housewife with a family can let herself remain detached for any length of time.

But I'm old enough to enjoy these peaceful snatches when I can meditate upon the curious intermingling of pagan and Christian ways which we find in the Christmas festival.

For Christmas is a two-fold celebration. The pagan in us rejoices that the darkest day is done, and that the earth, from which we draw our sustenance, is progressing towards the glorious resurrection of spring and Easter. To celebrate the passing of the shortest day, we have a feast for the body, and treat ourselves to luxuries which normally we can't afford.

Along with this, the spiritual side of us—If we are Christians—rejoices at the birth of a new religion stressing mercy and loving-kindness and the dignity of the individual.

I like both sides of Christmas. I thoroughly enjoy the Christmas dinner with all the trimmings that only come to us once a year.

I love the spiritual side of Christmas—the kindness to people less fortunate than ourselves, the consideration for others, the church service where the familiar carols are sung with tender or triumphant joy.

I detest the hurly-burly and the curious screaming of the hucksters. But it seems to me that in the hurly-burly there are thousands of people who are motivated by love and kindness, and that the potlatch side of Christmas is not nearly as prevalent as people make it out to be.

I know plenty of people who have given real thought and care to their presents, and are giving them in the hope of giving pleasure to someone they truly love.

When I think of the many people I know, I can think of dozens who carry the Christmas spirit with them throughout the year. These are the people who shop for invalid neighbors, take the blind for drives, help the handicapped, work for the old, visit the sick and shut-ins, and comfort those who are in sorrow. Such people are found among the rich and the poor, among the old and the young.

So long as such people are among us, I cannot think that the spirit of Christmas is dead. And I am mighty sure that not even commercialism and the cynics can kill it.

Indoor Tomatoes Can Be Sown Now

Every Christmas week since we acquired a greenhouse, I have sown a few seeds of tomato.

Usually, it is Christmas Day or Boxing Day that the opportunity occurs or, is made.

A dozen or so seeds are sown around the edge of a low four-inch pot, lightly covered with sifted soil and the surface gently firmed.

The variety Best of All gives a satisfactory crop indoors, whether the plants are grown for fruiting in large pots or planted into the greenhouse ground bed.

Most amateur greenhouses do not need more than a half dozen plants, so that a dozen seeds is ample to sow, and the best seedlings are selected.

It may be three weeks before the seedlings are large enough to prick out into separate three-inch pots, but from then on, growth will be fairly rapid.

A rich compost (some of that stack we advised you to take under cover way back in November) with no added fertilizer until the first fruits have set, will give sturdy plants.

Placing three stakes into the seven-inch pots when the plants are transferred to that size, will ensure support when required without damaging the roots.

After germination give the seedlings all the light available. That means wiping off the glass as high as you can reach to allow uninterrupted light to enter.

With the lengthening daylight hours to look forward to, and actually noticeable in January, you'll be encouraged by the growth of the young plants, and the first ripe fruits should be ready by the end of May.

Seeding at Christmas time gives you a conversation piece for your family and neighborly gatherings, and a chance to "confound the natives" as a fine old gardening friend says.

'Must Include China In Disarmament Pact'

NEW YORK (AP)—A Briton who has spent a lifetime working for peace expressed conviction Sunday that Russia is ready to accept full disarmament and adequate inspection but he said Red China must join in any pact.

Philip Noel-Baker, winner of the 1959 Nobel Peace Prize for his 45 years of disarmament efforts, expressed belief also that "a general disarmament treaty is much easier to make" than any agreement for partial disarmament.

The Labor MP and author said on a television program

(NBC-Meet the Press) that extensive conversations with Soviet Premier Khrushchev have convinced him Russia would accept an inspection system reaching right down to the level of rifles.

Noel-Baker said it would be extremely dangerous to conclude any sort of pact excluding Red China since that nation can draft 12,000,000 men a year, already has extensive production of conventional arms and will have nuclear weapons in the reasonably near future.

HILLARY TO HUNT ABOMINABLE SNOWMAN

SIR EDMUND HILLARY

... without oxygen

KATHMANDU, Nepal (UPI)—Sir Edmund Hillary, the New Zealander who conquered Mt. Everest, has been authorized to conduct a nine-month hunt for "abominable snowmen" on 27,900-foot Mt. Makalu.

The 14-man expedition that Hillary is to lead up the slopes of Makalu in September also will attempt to master its towering peak without oxygen and will test the effects of high altitude on the human body.

A six-man Japanese team of "snowman" hunters reached the base village of Namche Bazar Sunday, and two Americans—the brothers Peter and Brian Byrne—who had been hunting the fabulous creatures returned here.

The brothers said they are "more convinced than ever" that the abominable snowman exists, but made no mention of seeing one.

'De Gaulle to Wall' Shout by Algerians

ALGIERS (AP)—Shouts of "de Gaulle to the firing squad" rang through a stadium here Saturday at a meeting called by right-wing political elements.

The meeting, attended by 5,000 persons, was organized mainly to hear a speech by Georges Bidault, former French premier and one of the most outspoken politicians demanding that rebellious Algeria remain French territory. "It is time to end the sacrilegious process of abandonment of Algeria by France," Bidault said. "We swear to live and die French."

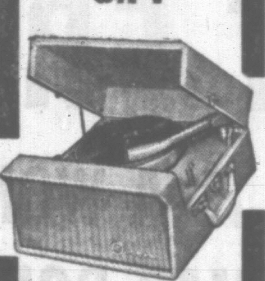

Several other local right-wing leaders spoke, and when one of them mentioned President de Gaulle's name, the crowd booed and shouted, "de Gaulle to the firing squad."

MADAGASCAR TO BE FREED

PARIS (Reuters)—President Charles de Gaulle has agreed to grant independence to the Indian Ocean island of Madagascar, 250 miles off the east coast of Africa, the island's prime minister said Sunday night.

Prime Minister Philibert Tsiranana, who left for home after talks with French leaders, said negotiations are expected next month on the transfer of sovereign powers from the French community to the Madagascar Republic.

Famed Coach in New Role

EDMONTON (CP)—Following three successful careers, 72-year-old J. Percy Page is starting a fourth—as Alberta's new lieutenant-governor.

Mr. Page—teacher, sportsman and politician—was appointed to the vice-regal post Saturday following the death last week of John James Bowen. Mr. Bowen, 83, had been lieutenant-governor almost 10 years.

Mr. Page said Sunday night he will be sworn into office some time this week. The date was expected to be announced by Premier Manning later today.

The colorful ceremony will be conducted by Chief Justice C. J. Ford of the Alberta Supreme Court.

POLITICAL CAREER

The new post is a climax to 15 years in the Alberta legislature.

Born in Rochester, N.Y., Mr. Page was brought up and educated in Canada. He left Queen's University to begin teaching—his first career.

He married Maude Roche of St. Thomas, Ont., and in 1912 moved to Edmonton to introduce commercial training to the school system.

In 1914, while in charge of girls' physical training at a Commercial High School, a group of girls asked him to coach a basketball team.

FAMOUS SQUAD

"I'll try," Mr. Page replied, and he was off on his second and perhaps best-known career.

In the next 26 years his Edmonton Grads became world famous, winning 502 of 522 games they played.

The team took the official world championship at four Olympic Games and held the Canadian championship 17 years. It was disbanded at the outbreak of the Second World War.

Mr. Page taught in Edmonton 40 years, retiring in 1952 as principal of the commercial section of Victoria Composite High School.

In 1940 he began a third career when elected to the legislature as an independent.

All Flags At Half Mast For Last 'Reb'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The flag against which Walter Williams rebelled nearly 100 years ago flew at half mast today in tribute to the last surviving American Civil War veteran who died Saturday.

The White House Sunday issued a proclamation of mourning signed in Paris by President Eisenhower, calling for all U.S. flags to be flown at half staff in honor of all Civil War veterans until the old Confederate soldier is buried Wednesday.

He leaves five daughters, five sons, 40 grandchildren, 86 great-grandchildren and more than 100 great-great-grandchildren.

8 Per Cent Increase In Royal Bank Profit

MONTREAL (CP)—The Royal Bank of Canada today reported net profits of $17,119,140 for the fiscal year ended Nov. 20, an increase of 8 per cent over the 1958 fiscal year.

Earnings a share were $2.83 against $2.79 last year, and regular dividends paid amounted to $12.245,959, with an extra dividend of 30 cents a share.

Total assets of $4,129,661,000 were slightly down from last year's high of $4,133,559,025. Deposits also were slightly below the record established last year at $3,777,620,441 against $3,782,068,763.

The combined capital funds reached $256,021,496, highest figure ever attained by a Canadian bank. The rest account, after a portion of earnings had been transferred, totalled $195,020,000. Paid-up capital went to $60,480,000.

Total loans, excluding mortgages, increased 25 per cent to $1,888,673,071. Commercial and other current loans increased more than $212,000,000 to a record $1,522,568,647. The bank

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A double-decker bus and a cattle truck collided Sunday, killing nine persons and injuring 35.

The impact dismembered bodies and hurled cattle into the front of the bus.

Everyone on the bus was killed or injured. The bus driver was killed, as were two drivers in the cattle truck.

Thirty cattle, mostly calves, were killed on impact. Highway patrolmen destroyed a dozen more injured animals with revolvers. Many fled, bawling, into the desert.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A Greyhound bus carrying 37 passengers left slippery U.S. 40 near here Sunday night and rolled into a ditch. At least one person was reported killed and 34 others injured.

The victim was identified as Caisy Mae Harris, 16, of Cleveland.

The state highway patrol said the westbound bus, a scenic cruiser, was on a run from New York to St. Louis when it skidded on a slick spot during a light snow and flipped into a six-foot ditch.

Remote Airport Gets Phone Link

OTTAWA (UPI)—The international airport at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island will be linked by telephone with the rest of Canada Wednesday, Transport Minister George Hees announced today.

The telephone line to the remote refuelling stopover and "capital" of the eastern Arctic will be opened by a conversation between Hees and Gordon Hollinsworth, transport department agent at Frobisher.

said the increase was accounted for by a "sharp increase" in the Canadian dollar loans to individuals, farmers, businesses and public bodies.

Loans under the National Housing Act were $291,756,158, representing 30 per cent of all NHA loans on the books of Canadian banks. Call loans almost doubled, going to $266,068,424.

The bank said it provided loan funds by reducing its holdings of federal and provincial securities by more than $260,000,000. Other securities were decreased by $91,748,133.

Suspended Sentence In Shooting

Frank McConnell, 73, Langford pensioner who accidentally almost killed an RCMP constable with a shotgun blast Nov. 27, received a year's suspended sentence in Colwood RCMP court Friday after pleading guilty to possession of a sawed-off shotgun.

He was placed on a $500 good-behavior bond for one year. His gun was confiscated.

McConnell, who now lives at 2215 Selwyn, accidentally fired a blast from a .410 shotgun through a door at Const. Howard Hall who had arrived at his place of residence to investigate an alleged robbery.

Earlier, Const. Howard Hall said he owed his life to the fact McConnell recognized his uniform at the last second, and the gun went off as the muzzle was being lowered to the floor.

Investigation had showed there had been no robbery, but Mrs. McConnell's bruised, dishevelled condition suggested she had been hit on the highway by a car.

Island Port Again Loads Ocean Cargo

NANOOSE BAY — First deep-sea cargo to be loaded from this port since 1941, a shipment of piling, left on the weekend aboard the Atsuta Maru. It was supplied by the North West Timber Co., which brought piling from as far south as Ladysmith to make up the cargo. It was handled by Chemainus longshoremen, who took it directly from the water alongside the ship and stowed it as a deckload. For many years, while the Straits Lumber Co. Ltd. sawmill was in operation here, ships called regularly. However, the mill was closed down in 1941, and it burned to the ground a year later when set afire by a spark from a cutting torch while being dismantled.

Election Probe Lawyers Named

(From Duncan Bureau)
Duncan legal firm of Williams and Davie, solicitors for North Cowichan municipality, today was asked by municipal clerk and returning officer Adolph Vande Casteyen to check on alleged infractions of the Municipal Act in connection with the municipal election Thursday. It is alleged that on Wednesday and Thursday letters signed by the community development committee, and asking support of council candidates W. T. Bowles, Chemainus, and Reginald Clegg, Westholme, were circulated within the municipality. The act states that there will be no campaigning, either spoken or written, within the 24 hours of the election. Councillor and reeve-elect Donald Morton raised the question. Both Mr. Clegg and Mr. Bowles were elected. Coun. Gerald Smith of Chemainus said he was sure neither candidate knew the letters were being prepared and sent. The fine for such an offence is up to $100, said Coun. Morton. The lawyers also will determine whether there is sufficient evidence to lay charges.

Police Still Seek Double-Murder Clue

NANAIMO — A police investigation of a double murder committed almost six months ago is still under way, an RCMP spokesman said here on the weekend. "We are still hoping to unearth a new lead," he said. "The case is not closed." Victims were Andrew and Lizzie Kostynuk, who were stabbed to death June 27 in their home at South Wellington, eight miles south of here. Their bodies were discovered three days later by a neighbor.

CHEMAINUS—For the first time in almost a century, big timber was felled within this community. About 30 big trees were taken out on the high bank above the sawmill just below the east side of Victoria Street. They were removed to eliminate any possible hazard to a single dry kiln unit which is being constructed below the bank.

The trees were removed under the direction of John Linder, head bull-bucker at Copper Canyon for MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd.

DUNCAN—Cowichan Christmas Cheer Fund reached $2,273 by Saturday, to exceed its objective of $2,000 by a comfortable margin.

Original target had been $1,500, but it was increased last week when it was learned there were more than 200 needy families in the area. The fund will assure food for everyone at Christmas and a gift for every child.

DUNCAN—The annual "Carols by Candlelight" service will be held at the United Church on Sunday evening, starting at 7.30.

The combined senior and junior choirs, 40 voices in all, under the direction of Norman Duckworth, will present 14

Santa From Seattle Gets Big Welcome

GANGES—An estimated 240 of the 400 children on Salt Spring Island were at the desk here Saturday to welcome Santa Claus on his trip through the Canadian Gulf Islands and American San Juan group.

"Santa" was Seattle businessman Ray Hyeat, and his sponsor was Bellingham Junior Chamber of Commerce, which chartered a fish packer for the two-day trip.

Twelve Jaycees made the trip. Although this was the 10th venture sponsored by the Jaycees, it was the first to include Ganges as a port of call. Bill Day, in charge of the trip, said Friday Harbor, on San Juan Island, was dropped from the itinerary in order that more calls could be made in Canadian waters.

Calls were made at Saturna, Mayne, Pender and Galiano Islands in Canada, and Stuart, Waldron, Orcas, Shaw and Lopez Islands in the United States.

Youth Trips Scots

Vic-West, Gorge In Second Round With Evcoes Club

As long as Victoria West has Barry Sadler working in goal, the youthful green-shirts are going to be a handful of trouble for any Victoria and District Football League club.

Sadler was up to his usual agile antics in a first-round game of the game at Royal Athletic Park Saturday sent Evcoes into the second round with a 6-5 win over Ladysmith.

Co-leaders of the district loop, Evcoes and Ladysmith didn't disappoint the more than 400 fans who were hoping for one of the best battles of the season.

It was a crowd-pleaser all the way and it finished on a thrilling note when Paul counted the winner with seven minutes remaining, only a minute after Ron Sage had pulled Ladysmith into a 5-5 tie.

EVCOES RALLY
Evcoes, who came from behind a 3-1 deficit to earn a 3-3 deadlock at the intermission, got tallies from Tim Walker, Ced Robb, Maurice Bunyan and George Wright in addition to the pair by Paul.

Sage, with two goals, Hastings Henry, Charlie Fry and George Johnston scored for Ladysmith.

Scottish held a decided edge in the opening half at Heywood, but the Wests broke away against the run of play to grab a 2-0 lead on goals by Horst Szukolla and Darrel MacIntyre before Bill Mossie finally got a shot past Sadler to make it 2-1 at the breather.

SCOTS TIRE

Sadler closed the door as the Scots appeared to tire in the second half and the Wests wrapped it up on two goals by Pat Mulcahy.

Wests go against Kickers in a second-round match Saturday at Athletic Park.

Ian Holroy, Dunc McCaig and Bill Abbott counted for Gorge to make it 3-0 before Jim McGhee broke through for Heaneys' lone tally.

MISSILE-FIRING

Fan Touches Off 40-Minute Melee

TORONTO (CP) — Dismissing the usual projectiles such as tomatoes and rotten eggs, a young spectator took dead aim with a slingshot during a Junior B hockey game Saturday night.

He fired a paper clip that hit the cheek of Toronto Marlboros goaltender Bob Perani. Perani jumped, fanned on a shot and promptly charged towards the stands.

Players from the Marlboros and a Brampton team joined in the excitement and it was 40 minutes before the game could be continued. Fifteen penalties totalling 80 minutes were handed out to 14 players, seven from each team.

The marksman was located and reprimanded by police. The game ended in a 4-4 tie.

Indian Side Bounces Back Into Contention

EVERYTHING UNDER CONTROL

Juggling puck may be dangerous in many cases, but Black Hawk goalie Glenn Hall has everything under control in making save during National Hockey League game against Toronto at Chicago.

Sunday night. Shot was taken by 'Maple Leafs' Bill Harris (15) despite defensive manoeuvres of Chicago defenceman Pierre Pilote. Other Hawk player in background is Ed Litzenberger. Hawks won 7-4.

PATS HOLDING DESIGNS ON FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN

Patterson Construction will be out for a fifth straight win tonight when the Commercial Hockey League moves back into Memorial Arena for its regular weekly twin-bill.

The Pats meet Vics at 9 p.m., while league-leading Navy plays Army in the opener at 7.30. Navy now lead Pattersons by four points in the standings and the Constructors are four ahead of Army and Vics, deadlocked in third position.

'Chief' Impresses Boss in Pro Debut

SIDNEY, Australia (AP) — Alex Olmedo, the swarthy Peruvian star of the U.S. Davis Cup team, lost to Australia's Lew Hoad Sunday in his professional tennis debut. But promoter Jack Kramer was delighted.

"It was a terrific debut," Kramer commented happily after his new pro lost 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 to the veteran Aussie before 5,000 fans at outdoor White City Stadium.

"Alex hasn't played a tough match for a long time and I thought he really did well for his first match with us," Kramer added.

"I would have played better," the "Chief" said, "but it was the first big game I've played for three months. I needed the competition."

Later, Olmedo showed the Hoad match did some good as he teamed smoothly with Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles to whip Hoad and Australia's Ken Rosewall in doubles, 6-4, 6-4. Gonzales won the second singles match, defeating Rosewall, 6-2, 6-4.

Olmedo, who turned pro last month for a $35,000 first-year guarantee from Kramer, was erratic in the singles match. The temperature was in the high 80s and a trick cross-wind appeared to bother both players, Olmedo particularly.

Alex, who went into a slump after winning the Wimbledon title this year, cracked Hoad's service in the ninth game to set up his victory in the first set. He double-faulted to lose service in the crucial 11th game of the second set and made a series of errors to drop four straight games after holding Hoad to 2-2 in the first four of the third set.

The total exceeded the team's own record of 3,851 set Oct. 23. Their high single topped by 14 pins the previous record of 1,530 set in 1949 by a women's team in Regina.

Mrs. Green led the way in the performance with a total of 879. She bowled 291 in the first game, 327 in the second and 261 in the final. The team's score by games was 1,248, 1,534 and 1,257.

POLICE SUPPLY FUEL ... FOR FOOTBALL TICKET-HUNTERS

Frigid Vigil Doesn't Faze Fans

BALTIMORE (AP) — Some 500 fans spent Sunday night in sub-freezing weather outside Memorial Stadium and were joined this morning by thousands more seeking tickets for Sunday's National Football League championship game between the Baltimore Colts and New York Giants.

About 7,000 general admission tickets went on sale at 8 a.m. with a limit of two to a customer.

Four Baltimore fans spent 56 hours waiting for tickets after starting the line at 1 a.m. Saturday. The number grew to 100 by 1 a.m. Sunday and numbered 500 at midnight.

The ticket window area Sunday night looked like a cross between an army bivouac area and a hobo camp. The fans huddled under blankets, in sleeping bags, on beach chairs and around fires built in charcoal stoves or oil drums.

Some joined in group singing. Others shouted "Colt" cheers.

Sympathetic officials kept open the stadium's rest rooms and park police brought out a load of wood when some of the fans began burning the police barricades.

Many fans were supplied food by friends but some appeared to be subsisting on a liquid diet from pocket flasks.

The three or four policemen on duty didn't object to singing or cheering but had to quiet one fan with a bugle.

Rumors swept through the Colt encampment that a band of G.I.s would play to crash the line at daybreak and four marines—the first four men in the line—organized fellow fans into a platoon of guards to protect the ticket windows.

Hottest Hawk, Hull Deserves All-Star Berth

It's going to be next to impossible to overlook Chicago Black Hawks' Bobby Hull when it comes time to pass out the National Hockey League awards this season.

The 20-year-old left wing, in his third and hottest big-time campaign, scored three goals Sunday night and assisted on another as Chicago whaled Toronto Maple Leafs 7-4.

They were Hull's 17th, 18th and 19th goals in 30 games—one more than he scored all last season—and the four points put him just one back of Boston's Bruins' slumping Bronco Horvath in the points-production standings.

SCORE IN BURSTS
All Chicago's goals were scored in a wild second period. At Boston, Detroit Red Wings scored all their goals in the third period as they beat Bruins, 4-2.

The third Sunday night game saw another four-goal final period as New York Rangers came back to edge the visiting Montreal Canadiens 6-5, gaining revenge for a 5-3 defeat at Canadiens' hands Saturday in Montreal when the Habs scored five times in the second period.

In the second scheduled Saturday night affair Toronto got a 3-0 first-period jump on Detroit and went on to win 4-2 at home.

The weekend action left Montreal six points ahead of Detroit. Toronto is in third and the nose-diving Bruins in fourth with Chicago and New York bringing up the rear.

HULL BREAKS LOOSE
At Chicago, Ken Wharram scored the first of two goals at 4.35 of the second period to start things off. Bob Pulford evened it for Toronto but then Hull went to work and scored twice within 25 seconds—the second an unassisted effort after he intercepted a Toronto pass.

It was Wharram again, then Hull's third and goals by Ted Lindsay and Pierre Pilote to round it out.

George Armstrong scored for Toronto before the period ended and, in the third, Cary Edmundson scored his first NHL goal and Frank Mahovlich added another to make it 7-4.

Two Chicago rookies had big nights—centre Stan Mikita and young Bill Hay each assisted on three goals as Hawks poured 51 shots at Ed Chadwick, replacing Johnny Bower in the Toronto goal.

Guy Gendron scored his 13th of the season at Boston Sunday to give Bruins a 1-0 first-period lead. But rookie Gerry Melynk evened the count 33 seconds after the third period opened. Gary Aldcorn scored two quick ones—at 6.29 and 6.56—and Alex Delvecchio got an unassisted goal to make it 4-1 before Larry Leach got Bruins' second goal.

LAST-PERIOD STEAL
Going into the third period at New York, Montreal appeared to have the game in hand as they held a 4-2 lead on goals by Jean Beliveau, Dickie Moore, Donnie Marshall and Ab McDonald. Dean Prentice and Bill Gadsby had scored for Rangers.

Then rookie Ken Schinkel made it 4-3 and successive goals by Larry Popein, Brian Cullen and Red Sullivan gave Rangers a 6-4 edge before Andre Pronovost scored for Canadiens at 16.46.

Tennis Queen Blasts Segregation Policies

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Althea Gibson, top woman tennis player, was indignant Sunday when she found a segregated audience at professional exhibition in the city arena in which she played a white partner.

"What is this?" she asked a sports writer when she saw Negro spectators sitting in one section of the arena and white fans in another.

"I don't like it," Miss Gibson exclaimed. "I didn't know this sort of thing still existed."

"This is a sport. An international thing—and yet you have some people sitting here and some people sitting there."

Miss Gibson, who performed before an integrated group of some 6,000 Saturday in Washington, was noticeably upset as she waited for her exhibition match.

"I don't want to skirt the law," she explained. "But there must be something wrong with the law. Just think—adults acting like this."

Virginia laws require segregated seating of spectators at public functions. A suit challenging those laws is pending in U.S. district court here.

Two More Marks For Marc's Cause

Boileau's Goals Send Seattle Four Points Up

Two games... and Marc Boileau today has two added reasons for all-star recognition in the Western Hockey League.

Boileau, spectacular Seattle sophomore, scored both winning goals in two weekend games as Keith Allen's Totems took a firm hold on second place.

Boileau scored a sudden-death overtime-period marker Saturday to give Seattle a 4-3 win over Spokane Comets, then followed with a third-period winner Sunday as Totems defeated Edmonton Flyers by a similar score.

WARRIORS WIN
In other Sunday action Winnipeg Warriors won 5-3 over Calgary Stampede.

Seattle's two wins narrowed the league-leading Vancouver Canucks' margin to 10 points.

Victoria Cougars are in third place with 35 points, four behind Seattle. Calgary and Edmonton share fourth spot at 29 apiece, four more than Winnipeg. Spokane lags in the cellar with 19 points.

The league is idle tonight. Spokane opens in the Prairies against Stampede in Calgary Tuesday, then moves on to Edmonton Wednesday.

Flyers' loss in Seattle was the first of their four-game coast tour. They finished with two wins, one tie and a loss.

EARLY CUSHION
Rudy Filion, Pat Ginnell and Guy Filion gave Totems a 3-1 lead going into the third and Boileau came up with the eventual winner.

Don Poile, Roger Dejorjy and Gord Labossiere scored for Edmonton.

The overtime period at Spokane was 2½ minutes old when Boileau rapped in the winner for Seattle. Ginnell got a pair for Totems and Tommy McVie scored one.

Spokane's goals came from Al Johnson, Fred Creighton and Les Lilley. It was Johnson's goal with less than three minutes of play remaining that sent the game into overtime.

Strong backchecking and steady netminding propelled Warriors to their win over Stampede before more than 4,000 Winnipeg fans.

Al Rollins was the big man for Warriors as he stopped 29 shots on the Winnipeg goal. He had little chance on the three goals that did get past him.

Barries Ross scored two goals for Warriors, giving him 13 for the season. They were his seventh and eighth goals in the last six Warrior games. Ray Brunel, Norm Waslawski and Paul Manskic were the other scorers.

For Stampede, Ron Leopold scored twice and defenceman Doug Barkley got the other.

JAPANESE PUCK SQUAD ON ITS WAY
TOKYO (AP) — Japan's Olympic ice hockey team left Yokohama Sunday aboard the Hikawa Maru for a series of matches in Canada and the United States before proceeding to Squaw Valley, Calif.

The 19-member delegation, including 17 players, is due in Vancouver Jan. 2, and opens its exhibition schedule in Victoria on Jan. 4.

After playing 16 matches against Canadian and American squads the Japanese team is due to reach Squaw Valley Feb. 8 for the Winter Olympics.

Early Splurge Aids Nanaimo
NANAIMO (CP) — Nanaimo Labatts scored eight goals in the first period and then held off a hard-pressing Chilliwack club to win 8-5 in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game before a meagre 165 fans Saturday night.

The game was delayed half an hour and Labatts took advantage of a slow-starting Chilliwack club, firing four goals inside four minutes.

Nanaimo brought the point to 5-0 before Lyle Foistead scored Chilliwack's first goal at the seven-minute mark.

Nanaimo led 8-4 after the first period.

Earl Robinson paced the Nanaimo attack with three goals. Bub Dumont scored two and Stan Berry, Jim Petersen and Red Carr scored singles.

For Chilliwack, Foulstead, Bob Walker and Al Lloyd each scored twice.

Great Riggins Fixed Cougars

Flyers 3, Cougars 1
By DOUG PEDEEN

Christmas came early for Edmonton Flyers.

All but skated out of Memorial Arena by Victoria Cougars Saturday night, the Flyers walked out of the building with a 3-1 Western Hockey League triumph, wrapped up neatly by the glittering goaltending of Dennis Riggins.

Flyers have been having their troubles this season and it has been hinted that unsteady netminding by Riggins has been one of their main problems. As far as the Cats and the 2,848 fans who sat in on Saturday's thrill-a-minute tussle are concerned, if there's anything wrong with the Flyers, it isn't Riggins.

The curly-haired goalie, who allowed an average of only 2.07 goals per game last winter before being sidelined by an eye injury that almost ended his playing career, yielded an average of 3.62 in 29 games this season.

That was before Saturday night. Against the Cats, Riggins was sensational all the way, missing only once as he blocked 19 shots in the first period, 13 in the second and another seven in the final session to present the Flyers with the victory as a pre-Christmas gift.

Of course, Riggins needed some help in the scoring department. He got all he required from a fellow called Stuart McNeill, who needed 19 games to score his first four goals this season and then slammed in two within 64 seconds in the first period to wreck the Cougars' bid for a fourth straight triumph.

But Riggins was the man that robbed the Cats, who started with a rush and threatened to wrap up the division in the opening period. Just about every Victoria player had a crack at Riggins in the early going and it seemed that Gordie Fashaway, who had been stopped twice by Riggins' alert moves, was finally destined to break the scoring ice.

It's Close, as Usual, In Minor Soccer Race

Eagles and Heaneys, who have made a habit of waging nip-and-tuck battles for supremacy in Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association campaigns, are at it again this season.

Running a close race for Division I honors, they staged one of their traditional struggles at Bullen Park, Sunday, and failed to decide a winner.

Hobson Takes Chess Laurels

Senators Shatter Winless Streak

Senators have finally broken the victory ice in the Victoria Minor Hockey Association's pee-wee division.

Senators scored their first win of the season at Memorial Arena Saturday, skating to 3-1 triumph over Flyers.

Bombers continued their unbeaten march by trimming Maroons, 4-1, and Royals moved into second place with a 7-2 victory over Capitals.

In the Tom Thumb division, Bruins blanked Canadiens 2-0 and Maple Leafs edged Red Wings 1-0.

ALPINE HIKE PART OF PLAN

MELBOURNE (AP)—Record miler Herb Elliott today began a new phase in his toughening-up program for next year's Olympic Games in Rome.

With two friends from Melbourne University, he began a 100-mile hike through Australia's rugged Victorian Alps determined to cover the distance in three days. Elliott will follow a map prepared for him by former mile champion John Landy.

Steve Hayhurst has joined Gar Taylor in the "don't have to worry any more" bracket, but four rinks could wind up in a tie for the other two Victoria berths available in the Vancouver Island zone curling playdowns.

Continuing his fine shotmaking at Victoria Curling Club Sunday night, Hayhurst skipped his rink to a 13-5 victory over the Larry Marshall quartet to clinch at least a tie for second place.

Saturday night, Hayhurst came through with a big victory, going to an extra end to hand Taylor his first loss of the 10-rink, round-robin series being held to decide four Victoria representatives in the Island playdowns.

TAYLOR PULS IT OUT

Sunday's win, his seventh in eight games, assured Hayhurst of at least a tie for second and he could wind up in a first-place deadlock with Taylor, who got back on the winning trail Sunday. Taylor counted four on the last end to edge Jim Dickson in an exciting 12-10 battle to complete his nine-game stint with an 8-1 record.

Defeat left Dickson in a three-way tie for fourth place with Marshall and Gordie Moore, who, squeezed out an 11-10 win over the Wes Young foursome Sunday.

Tony Gutoski, an 8-6 winner over Marshall Saturday, moved into third place Sunday by carving out his sixth victory—a solid 13-5 triumph over Gerry Walls.

In the important matches on tonight's wind-up schedule, Gutoski tangles with Moore, Dickson meets Hayhurst and Marshall goes against Young.

IT'S POSSIBLE

If Marshall, Dickson and Moore all post victories, they will be deadlocked with Gutoski for third place with six wins and two defeats.

Dickson stayed in the running Saturday with a 13-6 win over Young, and Moore bested Bob McIntosh 14-11.

In women's playdowns Saturday, Betty Stubbs moved out in front with her second straight victory, downing Edna Manchester 12-4.

Mrs. G. Walkey bested Marion Bradley 13-6 and Ann Stradeski trimmed Doris Fraser 14-7 in other Saturday games.

Twelve women's rinks are playing to decide one representative.

Here are the standings of the men's rinks:

Car Taylor	GP	W	L
Steve Hayhurst	9	8	1
Tony Gutoski	9	6	3
Jim Dickson	9	4	5
Larry Marshall	9	4	5

Vic High Power Tells Tale

Sweeping aside the opposition in four straight shutouts, Victoria High School won the first annual Victoria Rugby Union seven-a-side junior rugby tournament, Saturday at Macdonald Park.

Competing in the knockout tournament for boys under 18 years of age, the Vics tallied 32 points and held opponents scoreless in all four games to win the trophy.

Highly-regarded Shawnaigan Lake "A" was upset 5-3 by Mount Newton "A" in the first round but went on to win the consolation round.

Rugby Union officials said today that the tournament will definitely be held again next year in view of the keen interest by the schools and the high calibre of rugby played by the youngsters.

The surging Vic High boys swept by Glenlyon 11-0, Shawnaigan Lake "B" 8-0, Oak Bay Junior High 5-0, and in the final, Lansdowne 8-0.

Stan Rutter and Rangit Dillon both scored for the Vics against Lansdowne, and Dillon converted Rutter's try.

All games were five minutes each way except for the final match which went seven minutes per half.

Individual star of the day was Geoffrey Archibold of Shawnaigan Lake "A" who also plays with his school's undefeated senior team. He scored six tries during the day, three in the consolation finals.

Rangit Dillon starred for the champions with three tries and four converts in the four games.

Victoria Reps and Combined Services will meet Boxing Day at Macdonald Park for the annual exhibition match at 2:30 p.m.

Best Saved for Last, So Crown on Corbett

Don Corbett, who saved his best for the last, today wears the Victoria-Vancouver Island Kingpin Association crown.

Reg Waggoner apparently had the title in the first annual fivepin tournament for the association championship all sewn up heading into the last game of the 18-game competition.

But Waggoner, who had averaged just over 241 through the first 17 games, skidded to 194 and watched his 52-point lead go out the window as Corbett blasted his best score of the tournament, 286, to finish with a total of 4,342, 40 points ahead of Waggoner.

Corbett averaged slightly above 241 for the 18 games, which were rolled in six-game blocks, starting at Esquimalt Bowldrome Saturday, continuing at Capital City Sunday morning and finishing at Gibson's Sunday afternoon.

Finishing in third place with 4,289 was Derek Leonard, and Aubrey Powell of Port Alberni nailed down the fourth spot with a 4,288 total.

Following in order were Cy Wallis, Vic Smith of Courtenay, Roy Jago, Dave Bailey of Courtenay, Harry Cool and Bob McLeod.

Percy Riddle, who rolled the top six-game series, and Stan Bell, Sr., who chalked up the best single, failed to finish in the top 10.

Riddle rolled 1,554 to take the lead in Saturday's series and Bell topped the pins for a 349 single at Esquimalt.

Sena Guest topped the four women contestants among the 36 entries, finishing with a total of 4,216 and a 207-point lead over runner-up Sylvia Kelly, who had 4,009.

May Wallis posted 3,939 and Edith Neff scored 3,235.

Bowlers were competing on a scratch basis in the well-organized tourney, which moved along smoothly at each of the three alleys.

Field-Goal Fake Fools Alabama

NEW YORK (CP) — Penn State broke-out of a fake field-goal formation for an 18-yard touchdown play and a 7-0 victory over Alabama in the first Liberty Bowl game Saturday.

In another inaugural event in the post-season U.S. college football bowl games — the Bluebonnet at Houston, Tex. — Clemson rallied for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter and defeated Texas Christian 27.

Texas A and I whipped Le-noir Rhyme 20-7 in the third annual Holiday Bowl at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Liberty Bowl, played at Philadelphia, saw Penn score in the last seconds of the first half and being stopped in previous marches on the 11, one — and five-yard lines.

A poor Alabama punt gave

Penn the ball on Alabama's 23 with about 40 seconds to go in the half. After gaining five in a plunge, Penn lined up for a field goal try without bothering to huddle.

Second string quarterback Galen Hall, subbing for All-American Richie Lucas who had to leave the game early in the quarter with an injured hip, took the snap but instead of holding it for the kick, rifled a screen pass to Roger Köchman for the touchdown.

Clemson, the Atlantic Conference champion, scored two touchdowns in two minutes to erase a 7-3 Texas Christian lead in the final period.

First for Chargers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Chargers of the new American Football League have signed Ron Mix, No. 1 draft choice of the National League Baltimore Colts. Mix and Garry Finneran, a fellow University of Southern California tackle, are the first players in the Chargers' fold.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Jim Reynolds, a little All-American end from tiny Hillsdale College, Mich., has signed with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League.

Mike Caird of Esquimalt Legion Boxing Club decided Louie Schoulson of Ladysmith in the 147-pound main event.

Teammate Gordie McGraw decided Pte. L. Flynn, PPCLI, in a 125-pound bout, and Bill Brown of Esquimalt decided Fred Thomas, Colwood, in the 83-pound bracket.

Best fight of the evening was a close decision by PPCLI Pte. J. Handspiker over Al Curtis of Esquimalt in the 165-pound semi-windup.

Other bouts involving Esquimalt fighters saw John Beach, 104 pounds, decided by John MacDonald of Chemainus, and 68-pound Frank Ready decided by Roy Harris of Ladysmith.

Syndicate Gaining Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-man syndicate headed by Roy M. Cohn appears to be gaining ground in its efforts to promote a return heavyweight title fight between champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson in New York next June.

Cohn, a former assistant United States attorney-general and counsel to a Senate investigating subcommittee headed by the late Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, confirmed that his group has purchased two-thirds stock interest in the defunct Rosensohn Enterprises Inc. from Vincent J. Velella. He said he hopes to obtain the one-third interest held by William P. Rosensohn and hold the title fight at Yankee Stadium.

Velella, who was reported to have sought $150,000 for his stock, has been barred from promoting fights in New York State. He is under indictment for perjury as an aftermath of last summer's fight in which Johansson won the world championship from Patterson.

Record 62 Ships In RCN Fleet

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy said Sunday night in a year-end review that its sea-going strength reached a peacetime high in 1959.

At mid-December, the RCN had 62 warships in commission, including the aircraft carrier Bonaventure; seven St. Laurent and seven Restigouche Class destroyers; 11 older destroyers, 18 frigates, 10 minesweepers, two repair ships and six smaller craft.

Five new destroyers—Gatineau, Kootenay, Terra Nova, Columbia and Chaudiere—joined the fleet during the year.

THREE NEW FRIGATES

Also commissioned during the year were three modernized frigates—Cap de la Madeleine, Victoriaville and Inch Arran. The former maintenance vessels Cape Scott and Cape Breton returned to service in new roles as mobile repair ships.

The navy said "conspicuous progress" was made in developing the anti-submarine proficiency of planes and helicopters and in sharpening the intercept capability of the missile-armed banshee jet fighters.

At Dec. 1, personnel strength totalled 19,933, comprising 2,581 officers, 17,187 men and 615 Wrens. Forty-nine per cent of these were serving at sea, probably the highest proportion ever, in war or peace, and one of the highest ratios in any navy.

More Canadians saw their navy in 1959 than ever before, first during the Royal Tour and later when 19 NATO warships, eight of them Canadian, assembled at Toronto for sea-way-year celebrations.

Construction was begun on two of six new destroyers on order for the RCN. Work was started on the first in 1958. The other three are scheduled to be started in 1960.

First War Vet, 79, Too Much for Punks

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 79-year-old man routed two youths who attacked him Sunday afternoon when he used an unarmed combat trick he learned as a soldier in the First World War.

Describing the incident, Joseph W. Sayer, who lives at Hycroft Veterans' Hospital, said one of the youths attempted to strike him with a blackjack.

"I warded off the blow with my right elbow, then stepped forward and gave him a punch in the groin by lifting my knee," he said. "That was part of my army training. We were supposed to get as close as we could, then lift up the knee." "The boy fell down on his sidewalk where he lay on his back. I quickly picked it up and they beat it," he added.

Mr. Sayer, a retired saddler who served in the First Canadian Mounted Rifles, said he was taking his afternoon stroll when the youths, for no apparent reason, attacked him. "I have to get the exercise to keep myself in shape," he explained.

Tackle Cities' Traffic Problem Auto Group Requests Province

The provincial government has been urged to provide leadership in dealing with the metropolitan traffic problem, in co-operation with civic and municipal authorities.

British Columbia Automobile Association, in a brief to cabinet said a third to a half of all motor vehicle revenue of the province comes from vehicles which are primarily used in the cities.

The road program in B.C. has been almost entirely centred on highways outside the metropolitan areas. Now it is time the province concentrated on improving traffic movement in the urban areas.

In particular the brief proposed an immediate engineering and feasibility study concerning traffic movements through Vancouver and the North Shore crossing, the study to be paid for by the province in conjunction with municipal officials. And it suggested a long-range plan for sharing costs of necessary traffic projects with other levels of government.

The BCAA repeated its request that driver training be a part of B.C. high school curricula. It asked also that the province licence and regulate driving schools and set qualifications for instructors.

Another request which was repeated was for establishment of regular vehicle testing service in various parts of B.C., such as is now carried out in Vancouver, and the brief favored improved public education to prevent accidents.

The association also repeated its request that the motor vehicle branch be moved from Victoria to Vancouver a proposal that met with little sympathy by the government last year.

The brief was presented by a delegation headed by Clarke Simpkins, Vancouver car dealer, who is vice-president of the association.

WINCH 'TURNED BACK' ON SOCIALIST RANKS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hugh Clifford, former CCF federal election candidate, said Sunday night that MP Harold Winch has foregone the right to speak on behalf of socialists.

Mr. Clifford told a meeting of the Stanley Park CCF Club that recent statements by Mr. Winch proved that he had turned his back on the socialist movement.

Mr. Winch said in a recent speech unless Canadians smarten up in their demands for high profits and wages they are going to lose the markets of the world.

"The working class must have seemed very far away indeed from Mr. Winch as he travelled around the world in a comet jet, with all of the comforts of a parliamentary tour," Mr. Clifford said.

Asked to comment on Mr. Clifford's remarks, Mr. Winch said: "It's entirely up to him what he wants to say. I have done a lot for socialism and I hope to do a lot more for it."

THE TAIWAN PUZZLE

Draft Under Way for Chiang to Carry On

18 Victoria Daily Times MONDAY, DEC. 21, 1959

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

This is the fifth in a series of articles by Times editor Bruce Hutchison written after his recent visit to Taiwan (Formosa), where he interviewed Chiang Kai-shek and other leaders of the free Chinese.

The government of Chiang Kai-shek in Taiwan claims to be (1) the only legal, elected government of the Republic of all China; (2) a completely democratic government; and (3) the protector and servant of a free people.

Like many governments elsewhere, it is not exactly what it claims to be but, unlike any government anywhere, it operates on a unique constitutional system invented by the great Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

In a constitutional sense Chiang's government is the only government elected by the Chinese people, its mainland successors having taken office by civil war.

In a practical sense the regime of Taiwan can control only one small Chinese province until, as it hopes, it possesses its legal sovereignty over the mainland.

The Supreme Court established before the flight to Taiwan has ruled that, under existing conditions, all the elected organs must function until the mainland is recaptured and elections called.

As a province of China, however, Taiwan regularly elects a governor and assembly to manage provincial affairs and thus is administered, by two large, costly and separate organizations.

To govern 10,000,000 primitive people this is a complicated apparatus, even more complicated than it looks. For Dr. Sun was not satisfied with the three compartments of most Western democratic states — executive, legislative and judicial — and added three more.

His system is based on a National Assembly, elected by general suffrage with power to elect a president and vice-president and make constitutional amendments. This assembly was elected in 1946 for a term of six years. Of its 3,045 delegates 1,534 are in Taiwan.

According to the constitution, but not the current facts, Chiang is responsible to the Assembly, which can recall him at any time.

As the head of the state he functions through five layers of government: The executive Yuan, whose president he nominates, with the legislature's approval, as a prime minister, who appoints his own cabinet; the legislative Yuan (House of Commons) of 760 members, elected in 1948, 365 of them now in Taiwan, to which the prime minister is responsible; the elected control Yuan of 180 members (55 now in Taiwan), a watchdog over the constitution with power to impeach all executive officers; the examination Yuan of 19 members chosen by the president to examine all civil service appointments; and the judicial Yuan, or court system.

Complicated System

Such is the elaborate constitutional theory of checks, balances and ultimate democracy invented by Dr. Sun on the mainland. What are the actual facts on Taiwan?

The first fact is that government has become the obedient shadow of Chiang. He broods remotely on large affairs, leaves detailed administration to the cabinet but finally settles everything of importance, domestic and foreign.

The second fact is that Chiang has become almost, if not entirely indispensable as soldier, statesman, myth and saint worshipped only this side of idolatry. But he is growing old and his last legal term of office—second of two six-year terms—will expire next spring. Hence the constitutional crisis now superimposed upon the recurring crisis of war.

Awaiting Draft?

What to do when the constitution forbids the re-election of the indispensable man? Chiang says he will not approve a constitutional amendment, he has refused to disclose his plans even to his cabinet (so its members told me) but it seems obvious that he is awaiting a popular third-term draft, already well under way and conveniently unavoidable.

A pot of burning food filled the home of Dan F. Butler, 8561 Dencross, with heavy smoke before it was noticed coming out beneath eaves at 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

Neighbor W. F. Croft, 8573 Dencross, said he saw the smoke and went over to the Butler house to rouse the occupant, but found no one home.

As it extended the life of the other organs the Supreme Court doubtless can extend the term of the presidency. If this seems to stretch the constitution pretty far it should be remembered that Taiwan is in an actual state of war and for the present has no adequate substitute for Chiang.

If the return to the mainland is postponed indefinitely, how far can the constitution be stretched? How long can Chiang claim to head an elected democratic government without elections?

Taiwan Accepts It

Yet how can elections for all China be held in a single province? In plainer terms when is Taiwan to reconcile itself to the status of a small island nation if the mainland is lost forever?

That is the intractable problem confronting not only Chiang but his ally and guarantor—the democratic United States. Well disguised for the moment, it seems to be no pressing problem for the Taiwan people. They had never known democracy before Chiang came here to replace the Japanese colonial government and gave them at least an elected provincial legislature and municipal governments, and also relative prosperity.

Employment Prospects At Yuletide Seem Dim

RITES WEDNESDAY

Well-Known General Dies in City

Maj.-Gen. H. F. Hertzberg, 2333 Beach Drive, a well-known Canadian soldier, died at the Veterans' Hospital here today. He was 75.

Born in Toronto in 1884, he was educated at Upper Canada College, St. Andrew's College and the University of Toronto where he graduated in practical science.

In the First World War, he served in Belgium and France with the Canadian Engineers, 1st and 3rd Divisions.

After serving as acting adjutant-general for the Canadian Army, he became in 1940 commandant of the Royal Military College at Kingston. He retired in 1945.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Hertzberg; two daughters, Mrs. John Nation, Victoria, and Mrs. Duggan Gray of Vancouver.

Funeral service will be held at St. Barnabas Church at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Members of the family have requested that no flowers be sent.

Shipyards Might Improve in New Year

Esquimalt has 24 men improving boulevards and parks, while Saanich has close to 20 men digging and clearing ditches.

The Victoria program, expected to hit full stride about mid-January, has a half-dozen men working blasting rock at Hillside and Cedar Hill, while Oak Bay has four men engaged in water-main and sewer work. Slight relief to the grim employment situation in local shipyards is expected after Jan. 1.

Defence Production Minister O'Hurley has promised Yarrow's Ltd. work "early in the New Year," in a telegram received here over the week-end.

Union officials surmise it may be refit work, "but we certainly hope it's something big," said James McConachy, business agent for the Boiler-makers and spokesman for the Metal Trades Council.

There are about 1,000 unemployed shipyard workers in Greater Victoria.

The carpenters are another major group which has been hard hit.

In Greater Victoria there are now between 200 and 225 unemployed carpenters.

E. T. Staley, executive secretary of the B.C. Council of Carpenters, said today the situation "is the worst it has been locally since the war."

He blamed the provincial government for "inadequate planning," and said if a start had been made on the new courthouse in September, it would have provided work for a large labor force throughout the winter.

"And the same situation holds true for the Royal Jubilee Hospital expansion," he claimed.

"We hold the provincial government directly responsible."

GOODIES GALORE

Orphans Have Happy Time At Govt House

Ballroom in Government House was alive with laughter Saturday afternoon when Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross entertained children of the Protestant Orphanage at the annual Christmas party.

Boys and girls, dressed in their best, and with eyes sparkling with excitement, sang and danced at the gala affair.

The host and hostess had as much fun as the children at this first party for the orphans in the new Government House.

Excitement started with a pantomime by the Margaret Liddle School of Dancing at Sooke; Norwegian singers Freda and Eleanor Gilstein; pantomime singers Margaret Faulds and Lorene Barter and guitarist Jimmie Bryce. Master of ceremonies was Doug McFarland, assisted by T. Clowes.

SANTA SHOWED UP

Supper was served in the lower dining hall which was decorated in the Christmas theme. The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross sat with Brig. and Mrs. Clifford Milley of the Salvation Army, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holder of the orphanage board and Mrs. Ada Barner, the matron.

Climax of the party came when Santa Claus appeared to distribute gifts from the big Christmas tree in the ballroom. Colored balloons were given out and, as the children left the party, each received a bag of candies and oranges to take with them.

Murison Will Contest City Tory Nomination

Reeve to Campaign On Education Cost

Retiring North Cowichan reeve, Major-General C. A. P. Murison, today agreed to stand for nomination as a Progressive Conservative election candidate in Victoria riding.

Main plank in his provincial campaign will be reform of the present system of municipal-provincial school cost sharing.

He will put forward a formula devised under his chairmanship, endorsed by the Union of B.C. Municipalities and since endorsed by the B.C. section of the Conservative party.

In a press conference at the Empress Hotel this morning, attended by provincial Conservative leader Deane Finlayson and James Barclay, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, Reeve Murison outlined his stand on education.

HAS OWN FORMULA

Basically, he is convinced, municipalities should pay for services to property and the province should pay for services to people.

But in the case of education, where a measure of control rests with school boards, the Murison Formula calls for municipalities to shoulder 50 per cent of capital costs—the province accepting 100 per cent of the operational costs.

This would have the effect of bringing the province into the controversial question of establishing teacher salary rates, he said.

Reeve Murison has been reeve of North Cowichan since 1954 and during that time served two terms as president of the UBCM.

OLD-TIMER

Born Charles Alexander Phipps Murison at Grenfell, Sask., in 1894, he came to Victoria six years later and attended briefly the old Central School. Later he attended school in Vancouver and Ontario, before entering McGill University.

He was commissioned into the British army while at McGill and rose to major-general rank. He was made a commander of the Order of the Bath and received the Order of the British Empire for his services as director general of equipment, deputy quarter-master general and major general.

DRUNK, VAGRANT

Two Welfare Cases Given Prison Term

A drunk and a vagrant—both welfare cases—were jailed after sharp criticism from Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today.

The first, Vincent Sylvester of Brentwood, tried to pay a $10 fine from his expected welfare cheque after pleading guilty to being drunk on a downtown street.

He asked Magistrate Ostler for time to get the money.

"Where do you live?" the court asked.

"Brentwood. I'll be getting a welfare cheque," Sylvester said.

IT'S IMMORAL!

"Are you married?" "Yes." "Well, you're not using your relief cheque for your drunk fine. That's for your family. Three days."

Hugh Kincaid, of New England Hotel, pleaded guilty to vagrancy by begging for liquor money in the street.

"Don't you think it is dishonest taking money from the public and spending it on liquor?" Mr. Ostler asked him. "It is wrong," Kincaid confessed, adding he was on welfare, but not spending that money on drink.

"Wrong? It's immoral!" the magistrate retorted. "People like you don't deserve welfare."

He sentenced the man to 10 days.

Two Men Charged With Burglary

Peter Alex Hedstrom, 1751 Lee, and David George Holmberg, 1750 Scott, were charged in city police court today with breaking, entering and theft at a used car lot early Sunday.

They were remanded to Tuesday to complete election plea and to face a second charge of taking a car without the owner's consent.

Police said a plywood panel was kicked in at Regal Motors Ltd., 1314 Quadra, and a black German car stolen.

HOLED CHINESE VESSEL ENTERS DRYDOCK HERE

The 6,612-ton Nationalist China motorship Union Capitol entered drydock here today for repairs to her hull which was pierced by a rock Saturday night near Kelp Reef in the channel west of San Juan Islands.

Union Capitol is carrying a full load of grain for Formosa where she is registered at Kaohsiung.

Yarrows Ltd. will undertake the repair work.

Tentative deadline for hull repairs to be completed is Christmas Eve.

Captain of the vessel is C. H. Chow.

Youth Facing 16 Burglary Charges

A two-month petty crime wave in three municipalities brought a 17-year-old Oak Bay youth face to face with 16 of a total 24 burglary and theft charges in two juvenile courts today.

The boy was transferred to open police courts in Oak Bay and Saanich where five and 11 charges respectively were brought against him.

He was to appear in Victoria juvenile court Tuesday morning and was expected to be transferred to open court for his regular Tuesday sitting on the remaining eight charges, including one of car theft.

STAKEOUT SUCCEEDED

The Oak Bay and Saanich charges also were expected to be read in sittings of open police courts Tuesday morning and afternoon.

Police said the boy was arrested early Saturday after a stakeout, the culmination of a night of investigation with city, Saanich and Oak Bay juvenile officers, detectives and uniform police co-operating.

A series of break-ins and thefts, which it is alleged the youth committed single-handedly, began last Oct. 15 in Victoria and led to others in the Greater Victoria area.

In many cases unsuccessful attempts to enter business premises were made, and in others only small amounts of cash were stolen. Police recovered two transistor radios taken from one place.

Three bottles of stolen wine were alleged to have started the final stage of investigation that kept police busy most of Friday night.

Rites Wednesday For Mrs. Mellor, Leader in IODE

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Mellor, well-known Victorian who died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday, will be held at St. Barnabas Church Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

Rev. Thomas Bailey will officiate.

Born in Washington, Mrs. Mellor was the wife of the late George Mellor, a paint and glass contractor. She resided at 1120 Oxford Street, and lived in Victoria since 1902. She was 82.

Mrs. Mellor was an active life member of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Eastick of Victoria, and Miss Frances Claire Mellor, Vancouver, and two grandsons.

55 TWO-WAY FLIGHTS

TCA Arranging Yule 'Air Lift'

A total of 110 flights — 55 arrivals and 55 departures — will be handled by Trans-Canada Air Lines Christmas Eve at Victoria International Airport, company officials said today, for a total passenger movement of close to 3,000.

They expect the same rush Sunday, Dec. 27, to take all their customers back to where they came from.

This kind of traffic will mean the airport will be forced to handle an average of one arrival or departure every nine minutes from 8 a.m. on, although the concentration will be much greater after 3:15 p.m.

The 13 regular round trips to Vancouver and four to Seattle will be augmented by 32 extra on the Vancouver run and six to Seattle. The additional flights will run as extra sections to the regular flights.

Ferries also promise to be crowded, with the bulk of traffic to be handled between Nanaimo and Vancouver.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will maintain their regular schedules, but will run extra sections on each trip as needed to make sure no one is left.

THREE NAMED DOMESTIC PRELATES

Pope Honors City Priests

Three Victoria diocese Roman Catholic priests have been honored by Pope John XXIII who has elevated them to the rank of domestic prelates, Bishop James Hill announced today.

They will now be addressed as "monsignor."

Named were Rt. Rev. Msgr. G. O. Penfold, chaplain of Mount St. Mary; Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. L. Bradley, diocesan superintendent of Indian missions, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. J. MacLellan, chaplain at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Their new ranks were granted in recognition of "outstanding" priestly service.

Other honors bestowed by the Holy See went to four Victoria laymen. M. J. Griffin Jr., past state deputy of the Knights of Columbus of B.C., received the "Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice" which means "For Church and Holy Father" — a meritorious service award.

Miss Marguerite McKay, many years organist at St. Andrew's Cathedral, received the "Benemerenti" medal which translated literally means "for well-merited recognition."

Also recipients of the Benemerenti medal were Miss Ruth George, retired teacher, who has worked with the Indians many years, and Miss Alice Frith, teacher at the Songhees Reservation School.

All three priests were ordained for service in the Victoria diocese while Msgr. MacLellan was ordained at the cathedral here in 1919.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

B.C. Electric bus tours of Victoria's Christmas lights will be available on Dec. 26, 27 and 28.

Buses will leave from in front of the B.C. Electric Building, Pandora entrance, each evening at 7 p.m.

The fare is 75 cents for adults, and children under 12 35 cents.

The tours are held in co-operation with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Christmas lighting contest.

Christmas hampers were distributed to 241 Victoria families Saturday by the Victoria Surplus Food Stall.

"It was a real Christmas stall," said convener Mrs. E. E. Harper. "We had so much stuff given us — mince pies, meats of all kinds — everything you could want."

Next stall day will be Jan. 16. Persons wishing to donate are asked to telephone Mrs. Harper at GR 4-1750.

Group of Victoria College students, out carolling faculty members on Sunday evening decided on the spur of the moment to sing a few rounds at Government House.

They were invited to "come in" and sing in the ballroom for Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross.

After the impromptu concert the students were served refreshments. Group was led by Miss Roseann Millin, third-year pre-medical student and a director and president of the college choir.

Old Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 held the annual Christmas dinner and entertainment recently in the Crystal Garden.

More than 350 guests were present.

Entertainment consisted of the Norwegian dance group, performances by magician Frank Merryfield, and other attractions.

Elmer T. Forrest, no fixed address, was sentenced in city police court Saturday to 30 days in jail for begging on Johnson Street Thursday.

Police charged him with vagrancy after he tried to get liquor money from a plain-clothes policeman.

A hit-run driver who wrecked his own car, and did $300 damage to a parked auto in a collision on Belleville Street was fined a total $115 and his driver's licence was suspended in city police court today.

Frederick J. Hebert, 920 Pandora, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was fined $75, and to careless driving, for which he was fined $40.

Esquimalt council will meet tonight in the municipal hall at 7:30.

Most downtown city stores will open tonight through Wednesday until 9 p.m. for last-minute Christmas shoppers.

In addition, many stores which ordinarily close Wednesday will be open Wednesday afternoon.

The BCE shopping bus will also run in the evenings as well as afternoons to give a "belt loop" service to downtown shoppers.

A plaque outlining the 69-year-old history of the Victoria Art Gallery's main building was unveiled Saturday before members of the B.C. Historical Society.

Provincial archivist Willard Ireland addressed the assembly.

The house was built in 1890 by Victoria banker Alex Green and later was used for four years as the official residence of the lieutenant-governor.

Style-Conscious Toddlers
Love a Dainty Fur Muff!

By PENNY SAVER

Luxury of furs is something no lady can resist, no matter whether she's fully of age or just out of the diaper set! Little girls would look adorable, proudly keeping their fingers warm inside soft white rabbit fur muffs I've seen this week.

Muffs have a silk cord to put around a young charmer's neck and would satisfy her feminine longing for pretty things. Price of muff is $3.98.

To add another touch of fur to her ensemble why not get one of the fur collars that sell for $2.50? Of the same fur, Peter Pan collars have two large fur pom poms as trim. Collars would be just as attractive on a wool dress as on her winter coat.

For variety, you could choose one of the white rabbit fur neckpieces that look exactly like a miniature of Mummy's furs. These are priced at $2.50.

All fur items are daintily lined with white quilted taffeta.

Key rings have never been more elegant than they are this year. One I've seen has a tiny gold-finished book on the end of its slender chain. Cover of book is centred with gleaming rhinestones.

When the book is open you find that there is room to carry two of your favorite pictures inside. This particular gift item is selling at $2.95.

Jewelled filigree case is another budget-priced gift item that is well worth the price tag of $1.95. Suitable for carrying aspirins or other pills, little round case would look well in any woman's handbag. Top is charming with its delicate petit-point trim.

Little higher in price is still another gift that would be suitable for any woman.

This combination perfume vial, lipstick and view mirror is so beautiful, its bound to bring "Humm-m-m's" of appreciation from lucky recipient. Lavish use of pearls, rhinestones and jewelled filigree make it appear far more expensive than the $7.95 price tag.

For names of stores where these gift suggestions can be found give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

Vows in Chapel at Shawnigan Boys' School

First wedding to be registered in the chapel at Shawnigan Lake Boys' School, where groom is teacher, took place this afternoon when Rosemary, daughter of Mrs. J. Bradley, Belfast, Northern Ireland, and the late John Bradley, exchanged vows with Desmond G. Higgs, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Higgs of Cobble Hill. Canon George Biddle conducted the ceremony. Traditional music was played by organist Ian Galliford.

Rich jewel tone gowns in emerald green were worn by bridal attendants Miss Eleanor Hewlett and Miss Aria Smalley. Dressees featured square cut necklines and bouffant skirts. Both had headdresses of white feather carnations and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations. J. Grey was best man and ushers were Derek Hyde-Jay and David Higgs. Dr. D. S. Philip proposed the bridal toast at the reception held at the picturesque lake-side school.

Black French wool suit was chosen by the bride for her going-away outfit. A green mink collar highlighted the jacket. Her hat and gloves were in white and she had black shoes and purse. She had a corsage of pink roses. After an up-island honeymoon, newlyweds will make their home at Mill Bay.

Rev. A. I. Higgins officiated at the candlelight ceremony in First United Church. Wedding music was played by Mrs. J. Roberto Wood.

LOVELY GOWN

Bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her floor-length gown was of pure silk organza with a large bow lending back interest. Sabrina neckline was bordered with imported Chantilly lace and embroidered with pearls and paillette. Scalloped low waistline and lily point sleeves were other features of the lovely gown. Illusion veil was caught by a coronet of pearls and paillette. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and feathered chrysanthemums.

Attendants, Miss Valerie Rosenthal, San Francisco, and Miss Kathleen Carley, were gowned in Wedgewood blue crystalite and wore matching feather headbands in their hair. Petite Meredith Cherneff, sister of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a white and blue flecked nylon dress and flowered headband. Both bridesmaids and flower girl carried bouquets of pink brocade chrysanthemums and pink feathered carnations.

Brother of the groom, Maurice Cherneff, was best man. Holyrood House was scene of a reception following the ceremony. Victorian, Edmond Price, Wed This Afternoon in Calgary

A wedding of interest in Victoria, Vancouver and Calgary took place this afternoon in Christ Church, Elbow Park, Calgary, Alta., when Miss Judith de la Vergne, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. de la Vergne, formerly of Brooks, Alta., became the bride of Edmond Eberts Price, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Price of Ardmore Drive, Sidney, Canon W. H. Crump conducted the service.

Bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, C. Reginald Tanner, Calgary. An oyster toned gown, fashioned on Edwardian lines, was worn by the attractive dark haired Miss de la Vergne. Graceful skirt was full length extending to a court train of peau-de-soie. A lace bandeau held the bride's veil of blush pink illusion. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. W. B. Longshore.

An entourage of five attended the bride. They were Miss Mary Tanner, maid of honor and cousin of the bride; Miss Adelaide Price, sister of groom; Miss Natalie Dragaloski, Miss Robin Taprell and junior bridesmaid, Stephanie Denhoff. Gowns in Dior blue were worn by four senior attendants. Junior bridesmaid wore a similar dress in rose satin tone. All had matching bow bandeaux.

For the wedding, aunt of the bride, Mrs. C. R. Tanner, wore an afternoon gown in honey beige tone with lace bodice and peau-de-soie skirt. Mrs. Price, groom's mother, wore a coffee-toned gown of brocade. Her wide-brimmed hat was of satin draped with veiling.

DEAR ABBY...

How About Male Help?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a wife should have something to say about what kind of woman her husband spends between 8 and 10 hours a day with? I refer to his book-keeper, secretary or cashier. I won't identify myself because I am well known in town. My husband has a habit of getting much too chummy with the women who work for him. After the last mess (and believe me, it was a mess!) I made up my mind that I was going to interview all applicants for jobs calling for a woman. The one I hired lasted exactly four days. Now he's looking again. He refuses to let me interview them. I'd like your opinion on this.

ENOUGH SAID

DEAR ENOUGH: I think you are interviewing the wrong people. It is your husband who needs to be questioned.

DEAR ABBY: If you answer this by telling me it is none of my business you will probably be right.

A rather poor family who lives on our block has five children of school age. Nobody seems to care if they go to school or not. Almost every day two or three of them are seen walking up and down the street having the best time. The older girls stay out of school a week at a time and I know there is nothing wrong with them.

If you were in my place would you notify the school authorities? BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: If you are interested in doing a public service, call on the mother of these children and find out whether she is ill, incompetent or absent from the home. Perhaps this family needs some friendly assistance.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN LOVE AND MILES APART": "Absence is to love what wind is to a fire; it puts out the little, it kindles the great." (de Bussey-Rabutin.)

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise Keeps You Vigorous

It is becoming more and more apparent that inactivity leads to early deterioration while activity prolongs the youthful portion of life.

When muscles are not exercised they become weak and flabby. When the mind is not used vigorously it loses its keenness. Unless we dust off our hearts quite often, nothing much seems worthwhile.

Stimulation is an important factor in beauty, health and happiness. Poor circulation probably has an influence in hardening of the arteries, heart attacks, constipation and many other physical troubles.

Let's begin with the skin. Its care should include stimulation of the circulation. You can accomplish this with gentle patting and facial exercises. Circulation creams which whip the blood up are helpful in overcoming a rough, scaly or goose-pimpley neck. The complexion also profits by general exercise which sends the blood zooming to all parts of the body.

One of the best-known specialists in gerontology feels that it is most important to stimulate the liver with special exercises. Here are two of them.

Lie on the bed on your back, legs straight. Keep your back on the bed as you push your abdominal muscles up toward the ceiling as far as you can. Now pull your abdominal muscles down toward the bed. Pull hard and hold for a few moments. Continue, doing this exercise slowly but firmly. Another. Lie on your back on the bed or floor, legs straight and arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen. Grasp the knees with the hands and pull back toward the abdomen. Hold for a few moments. Return legs and arms to the floor. Continue.

Here's a gift idea for that favorite woman on your Christmas list. It's a spray-cologne concentrate. It's the misty form of a French perfume.

Famous Scents Here As Spray Colognes

More and more, famous scents are becoming available to the average pocketbook in spray cologne form.

Even in these times of prosperity, not many housewives or career girls can afford to indulge in the really great American or French perfumes. When they do come along, it's usually in gift form.

But what they can do is buy the spray cologne form of one of the great perfumes. In the past year, many of these have been placed on the market in both purse and dressing table containers.

Newest of these is a spray cologne concentrate of a Parisian perfume introduced in Canada last fall. It's in a metered spray and should be used 10 inches away from the skin.

The scent itself is a light one with lasting qualities. It's a floral fragrance which is "dry".

Wallpaper makes ideal and original Christmas wrapping for those bulky packages which are so hard to decorate. It is attractive and sturdy. The finer textured wallpapers are easier to work with and if you use ready-pasted paper you can apply it right to the box and create unusual effects. This is a good trick for dressing up hat boxes or other boxes used for storage.

MARY STEVENSON SUGGESTS:

That you be a popular hostess with Stevenson's Homemade Chocolates.

DON'T FORGET—when visiting take along a box.

DON'T FORGET—the men on your list—they enjoy good chocolates, too.

TOGETHER AFTER 43 YEARS

OTTAWA (CP)—Christmas came a little early for two Ottawa women this year.

It came in the form of gift-laden Mrs. Kathleen Bartram, who arrived here Sunday from Twoonba, Queensland, Australia, via Singapore, Egypt, France and England.

She's a sister of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, 70, and Mrs. Jean McCullagh, 61, of Ottawa, and it's the first time they have seen her in 43 years. The three were last together in 1916, the year Mrs. Bartram left their London home for Australia.

"I've been dreaming of a visit to Ottawa for years," said the tanned, 65-year-old Mrs. Bartram.

Like every muscle in the body your eyes need exercise. A simple one is to roll your eyes to the far right, then to the far left.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 10-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Dale Gerhardt, aged 12, of Mohawk, New York, for his question:

How Are Rocks Formed?

The story of the rocks dates back to the birth of the earth. In its youth, we are told, our world was a chaos of blazing gases. All the chemical elements from which our cool solid world is made were there in gaseous form. Some four or five million million years ago, the blazing ball began to cool. The gases, or most of them, reached their freezing points and became solid rocks. The minerals from which rocks are made reach their freezing points and become solid far above normal temperatures.

The 90-odd elements from which our world is made tend to combine with one another and form countless different substances. In the earth's crust, only eight of them are present in great abundance.

Sediments Become Sandstone

The igneous rocks are those formed by fire, by volcanic heat. Their histories begin deep below the surface where temperatures are high enough to melt rock into pools, of buried magma. Active volcanoes erupt this material to the surface as molten lava which cools to become solid rock. Granite, pumice, obsidian and feldspar are some of the igneous rocks. Basalt, which forms massive layers under much of the earth's surface, is an igneous, fire-formed rock.

Sedimentary rocks are formed by water. The weather is constantly dissolving and washing away the mountain slopes. In the sea, a constant rain of particles settles to form sediments on the floor. Later, these sedimentary layers may lift above the water and become hard dry beds of sandstone or limestone. Sandstone is a layer of sand and gravel cemented together. Limestone is formed from the shells of countless little sea dwellers.

Metamorphic rocks have suffered still more change so that often the original form is lost. Buried under terrific pressure and heat, the sedimentary shales may become metamorphic slate. Volcanic heat too may metamorphose a rock. Igneous granite, when percolated with the heat and gases from a new lava flow may become a mottled rock called gneiss—pronounced nice.

RUSS PLAN WOULD PUMP TIDES, WARM UP ASIA

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet engineer proposed Sunday building a tidal pump and dam which he said would warm up thousands of miles of the Pacific coastline of Asia and banish snow from Japan forever.

Tass said his idea is to throw a dam across Nevelsky Strait — the five-mile stretch of water dividing the mainland of the Soviet Union from the island of Sakhalin. Its effect would be to close off cold waters from the north and a tidal pump would be used to introduce a warm current from the south to the area.

The Soviet news agency attributed the idea to a Soviet engineer N. Romanov, and said the Pacific coast of the Soviet Union, North China and Hokkaido Island of Japan all stood to benefit.

NEW YORK—Sandu Scott, a willowy blonde who resembles Jayne Mansfield here and there, is always urging New York cab drivers to watch her on the ABC television show, "Anything Goes."

They ask her a lot of silly questions about it, such as "What time is it on?"—and she tells them it's on around the witching hour.

"But I watch Jack Paar," they have a way of saying. "Who is Jack Paar?" she has a way of replying.

It's probably as good a way as any to face a currently hopeless situation. The ABC brass have warned performers on "Anything Goes" not to mention Jack Paar on the show. They apparently feel that if they ignore him, he will go away.

"Do you ever sneak into your dressing room and watch him when you're not doing something on the show?" asked Miss Scott the other night at the Stockholm over an aquavit.

"No—I don't have time," she said.

LAKE RESCUE WINS PRAISE

Robert J. Heenan, 23, Toronto, former member here of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, has received official commendation for bravery in rescuing a drowning youth at Beaver Lake last summer.

He plunged in and brought out Barry McGowan who was struggling about 15 yards from shore.

The commendation, from the Canadian Army chief of general staff, said "the quick thinking and decisive action taken by Pte. Heenan undoubtedly prevented a drowning accident."

NEW ISOLDE

'Great Star Flashing' At the Met

NEW YORK (AP)—New York music critics have hailed the New York debut of Swedish singer Birgit Nilsson as one of the greatest Wagnerian operatic performances in two decades.

A knowing audience at the Met's new production of Tristan and Isolde, was aware that a great star was flashing in the operatic heavens," writes Howard Taubman of the New York Times.

Taubman calls Miss Nilsson's performance "the finest Isolde since the unforgettable days of Kirsten Flagstad two decades ago."

Writing for The Herald Tribune, Paul Henry Lang says such a performance "has not been heard since Kirsten Flagstad... Birgit Nilsson is the possessor of a magnificent voice, a clear, unobstructed, powerful soprano of extraordinary brightness that can cut through the orchestral phalanx without ever being shrill."

Miss Nilsson grew up on a farm in Sweden and made her debut in Stockholm 12 years ago.

Esquimalt council will meet next month with officials of the attorney-general's department to discuss establishment of a juvenile and family court for Greater Victoria.

Oak Bay municipal officials have already discussed the plan with Attorney-General Robert Bonner, while Saanich and Victoria have signified willingness to go along with court establishment.

HOTEL BILL $1,193 FOR TWO WEEKS

Canada's First PM Rooked On Only Visit to Victoria

The story of how Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister, was "rooked" in a Victoria hotel on his first and only trip to the west is recalled by Sir Joseph Pope, then his private secretary.

At the famous Driad Hotel (long since defunct) Sir John and his party of five, including Lady Macdonald and two servants, were charged $1,193 for a two-weeks' stay.

Sir Joseph Pope expressed his opinion of the Driad in no uncertain terms in his memoirs of the Victoria visit published in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

"We had lived on a most moderate scale, had dined table d'hôte, and our wine bill amounted to only $10," he protested, adding:

"What riled me most was an additional livery stable charge of $37.50 for bringing our luggage up from the steamer to the hotel, a distance of about a quarter of a mile."

Sir Joseph recorded with relief that, when the size of the bill was brought to the notice of the prime minister, with his well-known "economical views," he merely remarked:

Visiting Yank Promptly Offered to Battle

This reaction was very different from that of a "cigar-chewing Yankee" ahead when he got his bill was heard to say "By G-d, I'll not pay that. I'll fight like a... of... first."

Sir Joseph Pope, a native of Prince Edward Island, was Sir John A.'s secretary during the last nine years of his prime ministership.

He accompanied the PM and Lady Macdonald on their first and only trip across Canada in 1886 on the newly-completed Canadian Pacific Railway which "symbolized Macdonald's dream of a nation from sea to sea."

The railway was completed from Montreal to Port Moody in the autumn of 1885. The prime minister's party arrived in Victoria by steamer at about 10 p.m. on the evening of Saturday, July 24. Of this Sir Joseph wrote:

"As we steamed into the harbor the strains of The Red, White and Blue greeted our ears from over the water and sounded very prettily. We were met on landing by a torchlight procession, and escorted to our hotel with much enthusiasm."

Day Was Always Afternoon' in Victoria

When one of the party voiced the praises of Victoria's soft climate, Sir John A. agreed but added: "The day is always in the afternoon."

His secretary did not find the Victoria air enervating but said it did not possess "quite the strength and vigor of the lower St. Lawrence."

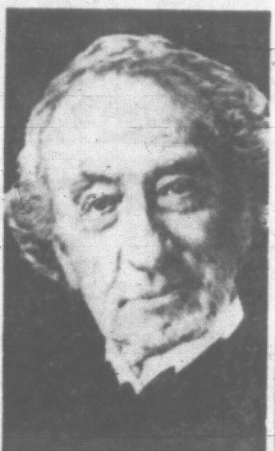

He thought B.C. the most attractive of all provinces and which 150 miners lost their lives.

The same afternoon the party left Nanaimo for New Westminster in Robert Dunsmuir's tug Alexander. Of this Sir Joseph Pope wrote:

"The sun was setting when we stood out to sea, and its rays lighting up the landscape, made our last glimpse of Vancouver Island a very beautiful one."

"Mount Baker stood radiant in the southern sky, catching and reflecting the light back to us for some time after the sun had disappeared below the horizon."

Stolen Car Found In Hit-Run Crash

City police recovered a crashed stolen car on Heywood Avenue five minutes before it was reported missing by its owner at 1:55 a.m. Saturday.

At 1:50 a.m. a cab driver reported a hit-run collision at May and Cook, where a car was involved in an accident with an auto driven by Lionel Walter, 1917 Shotbolt.

The car knocked over a stop sign on the northeast corner of the intersection, struck Walter's car, crossed Cook, went over lawn at Beacon Hill Park onto Park Boulevard, and continued to Heywood, where the driver fled on foot. Police said damage was medium.

Five minutes later Dave Southall, 1320 Point, reported his car missing from in front of home.

TRUCK RUNS AMOK

In an earlier accident, a panel truck with William D. Jones, 2590 Blackwood, at the wheel, went out of control on Yates, skidded into a lamp standard, breaking a globe cluster, rolled over a sidewalk and into two used cars on Victoria Dodge-DeSoto Ltd. lot. Damage was extensive.

Driver of one car involved in a two-car crash at Fernwood and Yates at 10 p.m. Friday was treated for a minor head injury at HMCS Naden hospital.

Police said drivers were Alexander E. Rodger, HMCS Jonquiere, and Marion M. Johnson, 1069 Joan Crescent. Damage was heavy, police estimated.

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available—a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior.

5 GRADES

"CLEAR" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is designed for use where perfection is demanded. It is well milled and smooth, making a full length without waste. It is available in vertical grain (V.G.) for 5/8" width or more from thick edge.

"A" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is selected for use where exceptionally fine appearance is desired. It is available in full length without waste and may be mixed grain (M.G.).

"B" Bevel SIDING

Appearance closely approaching that of the higher grades is often achieved with siding of this grade which contains slightly more character and some cutouts in longer pieces. Craftsmen of even moderate skill find it easy to apply. It may be mixed grain (M.G.).

"RUSTIC" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is recommended for use on exterior walls where the distinctive charm of rustic appearance is desired. It is graded from the re-sawn or rough side which is exposed. Thick edge may be rough or surfaced.

"C" Bevel SIDING

Pieces of this grade have one or more characteristics which are such as to make the piece in a higher grade. Lengths are random with no specified percentages.

CANADIANS TOO 'STRAIGHT'

Who's Ballyhoo Hottest Seller Since Kinsey

NEW YORK (CP) — Celebrity Register, its editor-in-chief likes to say, is the fastest-selling book since the Kinsey Report.

It's a compilation of famous people who may or may not already be listed in the various Who's Whos. But the sketches of 2,240 subjects of either fleeting or lasting fame contain more than abbreviated listings of lives and works.

Quotations from the subjects, either culled from press clippings or noted in interviews by the Register's writers, enliven the stories of actors, statesmen, strip-teasers, writers and others.

FEW CANADIANS

Besides Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Opposition Leader Pearson, Governor-General George Vanier and his predecessor Vincent Massey, the Register has only a sprinkling of Canadians—and former Canadians, mostly drawn from the theatrical world.

"We missed out on a lot of Canadians," says Cleveland Amory, the editor-in-chief. "But in subsequent editions we hope to have more. Men like E. P. Taylor, the Toronto industrialist, for example, should be in."

"But there are not too many Canadians in what Americans think of as the celebrity class. Canadians are more conservative."

Celebrity Register's portraits of Diefenbaker, Pearson and the two governors-general are straight-forward accounts.

But something of the book's style is apparent in the listing for Nova Scotia-born Cyrus Eaton, the big Cleveland industrialist.

PUGWASH HOGWASH

About the conferences of philosophers and scientists at his summer home in Nova Scotia, it says:

"Fellow Cleveland industrialists describe the thoughts emanating from his 'thinker's resort' as 'that hogwash from Pugwash.'"

Describing Eaton as a lone wolf, it quotes him as having said, "a man's first obligation is to earn his living and second to be intelligent."

Ernest Hemingway is reported: "If my books didn't sell, I think I'd be a bear-trainer. I like to wrestle bears."

There is also the occasional barb. Of the Duchess of Windsor, the Register says: "To her admirers she is a much misunderstood lady of extremely gentle birth and heritage... she also makes clear that her mother never took in boarders."

"Nobody's survived more bad pictures than I have. I've done some of the worst dogs ever released. Hell, I'm no actor; I just act as a hobby. My business is stamp collecting."

Raymond Massey, another actor and a brother of the former governor-general, is said to be famed for his absent-mindedness and once signed a cheque by mistake with gracious "Yours sincerely, Raymond Massey."

CASTRO THREATENS ENEMIES

'We Will Take Everything'

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Sunday night his next cabinet meeting will pass laws confiscating all property of persons convicted of counter-revolutionary activities.

Meanwhile, gunmen Sunday wounded three men leaving an automobile assigned to the Castro government's minister of labor. Police said the shooting was an apparent attempt on the life of the official, Augusto Martinez Sanchez.

An apparent attempt on the life of the official, Augusto Martinez Sanchez.

Martinez Sanchez was not present at the time of the shooting.

On Friday an ailing American businessman was sentenced by a Castro military court to 13 years in prison as an alleged underground link between anti-Castro people in Cuba and Florida.

The businessman is John V. Martino, 49, of Miami Beach, Fla., and New York, who has been under prison hospital treatment for a kidney stone condition while awaiting trial.

AN EXTENSION PHONE!

Just about the nicest gift any husband ever thought of

And just about the nicest gift any wife or family ever received. It's different, exciting and its pleasure increases every day. And it's so easy to give an extension phone. You can pick up a gift-boxed phone at the Telephone Company, already to put under the tree. Or, for Christmas secrecy, have it delivered to your office. The extension phone will be installed, free of charge, shortly after Christmas.

How to give an Extension Phone for Christmas:

The only charge is for regular telephone service, each month — $1.25 (free installation). One of the attractive features of this gift of service is that you may give it for as long a period as you wish. Many people give it for 1 year. This would come to $15.00. You may pre-pay this or have the $1.25 added to your own telephone bill each month. An especially lovely gift, is a coloured extension phone. To give this, there is an additional one-time charge of $12.00. This may also be paid by installment charges on your own telephone bill.

Russia Invited To March Talks

PARIS (UPI)—The United States, Canada, Britain, France and Italy invited Russia and five other Communist nations today to open global disarmament talks March 15 in Geneva.

Summit Series Proposed

PARIS (CP)—The top statesmen of the Western world approved major announcements today on disarmament, Atlantic trade and an East-West meeting.

At a series of weekend meetings, the Big Four ministers set their seal on these decisions:

Russia is being invited to participate in a "revolving series" of summit meetings starting in Paris April 27.

Other East-West parleys would be held in London, Washington or Moscow at regular intervals.

The Western five members of the 10-power disarmament committee will meet to discuss proposals for the committee which will begin work early in the new year.

An economic negotiating commission consisting of representatives of Canada, the United States and the two European trading blocs will be appointed to consider a possible "Atlantic framework" designed to offset the danger of a split between the six-country Common Market and the "outer seven" European Free Trade area.

WILL STREYD AID

The commission will also study questions of western aid to underdeveloped countries. It will sit in Paris.

French circles hailed the commission as a harbinger of an "Atlantic supermarket" encompassing more than 300,000,000 people, but conference sources stressed that there are serious difficulties to overcome.

"Atlantic free trade still seems distant," an informant said.

The decisions, described sketchily in communiques, issued today at the windup of the meetings of the heads of government of Britain, France, the United States and West Germany, followed one of the busiest Western diplomatic weekends since the war.

NO MORE AT SUMMIT

The general communique ruled out any added starters in the East-West summit talks such as divided Germany, Red China or India.

The communique said the West's determination to yield to no threats on divided Berlin or surrender their basic interests there. West Berlin is the central issue.

KOREAN CRIPPLED KIDDIES' FUND

'Good Work' Deadline Near

The Times' Korean Crippled Kiddies' Fund passed the $4,300 mark today, with time running out in the campaign to build a rehabilitation centre for 155 injured children.

The drive on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee will finish next Monday to allow the USC to include donations in this year's budget.

There is no listing of weekend contributors today. These will be run Tuesday.

Meanwhile, originality-plus is being used to raise money by various volunteer groups.

The senior council, North Saanich High School, Sidney, had a dance Friday. The

The five Western powers, plus Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Bulgaria belong to a 10-nation United Nations disarmament commission, formed to negotiate a halt in the East-West arms race.

Foreign ministers of the five Western powers issued the invitation to their Communist partners in the UN commission after meeting at the French foreign office today.

The Soviet Bloc nations will probably agree to the proposal, diplomatic sources believed.

The Geneva parley would start five weeks before the opening of the East-West summit conference.

TEST GROUND

The Geneva talks, diplomatic sources said, will provide a testing ground for the sincerity of Russia's intentions in the key disarmament field.

Disarmament has been singled out as the number one point for summit negotiation.

Success or failure of the Geneva talks therefore would bear heavily on the East-West summit conference.

Opening of the Geneva meeting would furthermore coincide with the day Khrushchev arrives in Paris for a state visit with French President Charles de Gaulle.

The disarmament commission was established last fall in reply to mounting concern among United Nations members over the quickening pace of the East-West arms race.

SERIES

The Geneva conference will consider a series of proposals worked out by both the Western and the Communist powers in an effort to achieve controlled disarmament.

All past efforts to meet this goal have failed.

At the top of the list would be the disarmament plan Khrushchev outlined before the UN General Assembly during his visit in the United States last September. It suggested total disarmament within four years, or failing that, a gradual limited abolishment of armaments.

The Western master plan is expected to be an offer of a stage-by-stage disarmament under foolproof control, fathered by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

De Gaulle To Canada

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle, due to visit the United States about the middle of April, also will pay a visit to Canada, External Affairs Minister Howard Green told reporters tonight.

A reliable source said Sunday that the French president would start his American visit April 19.

Reporter Finds Fugitive Chan A Nervous Wreck

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sun says Weldon Chan, wanted by immigration authorities for deportation to Hong Kong, is a nervous wreck from seven weeks of dodging police, speaking to no one and always expecting the law to catch him.

"But he told me he won't give himself up," the newspaper says in a story dated "Somewhere in Eastern Canada" and written by its Ottawa correspondent Alex Young.

The story says Mr. Young met Chan in a secret rendezvous near a church in a large Eastern Canadian city. It says the meeting was arranged through a phone call to Mr. Young at the parliamentary press gallery in Ottawa.

Chan, his wife and five-year-old daughter have been ordered deported to Hong Kong. Chan disappeared while en route to Ottawa for a personal appeal for permission to remain in Canada. The paper says Chan changed his mind "for fear of being arrested and deported right away."

"That would leave me no chance to fight on," the newspaper quotes Chan as saying. The story says Chan said he would continue living a solitary life, wandering around and nursing the hope that Canadian immigration authorities will change their minds.

"For my little girl's sake, ask them to let us stay," The Sun quotes Chan as saying. "She is only five years old and so innocent."

Communications with the central regions are still down, making immediate accurate reporting of the devastation virtually impossible.

IKE RIDES WITH FRANCO INTO MADRID

Flag-waving crowds lined the streets and hung from trees and jammed balconies as he rode into Madrid with Francisco Franco at his side. Eisenhower is the first major Western leader to visit the Spanish dictator, who wore his generalissimo's uniform.

The handsome, 40-year-old Shah divorced his first two wives because they failed to bear him an heir to the throne.

His first wife, an Egyptian princess, bore him a daughter. Speaking to reporters Sunday, the Shah explained that aside from human reasons, he was marrying Farah for reasons "of a monarchical order."

Iran's constitution requires that the successor to the throne be a male.

The marriage rites were surrounded by the ornate splendor of ancient Persia. The peacock throne itself has 12 pillars, each decorated with two gem-encrusted peacocks. It was built in the 17th century for the Indian Mogul Shah Jahan, builder of the Taj Mahal. The throne was carried off to Iran in 1759 by the Persian ruler, Nadir Shah.

More Grants Or Taxes Soar

By JOHN MIKA

The provincial government today was caught in a boiling riptide of demands for more school assistance following an arbitration award that gave 775 Greater Victoria teachers a salary boost for 1960 unofficially estimated at $500,000.

Mounting pressure for more grants and establishment of a government agency for centralizing bargaining with teachers rolled in from school board and municipal officials as well as newly-announced contender for the Progressive Conservative nomination in the Victoria provincial constituency, Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Muri-son. His platform includes a major plank on school costs.

Exact cost of the award was still being tabulated today for presentation to a school board meeting tonight.

A $500,000 boost — slightly more than a 15 per cent increase over the $4,250,000 teacher salary cost this year — would add about 2 1/2 mills to the Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt property owners' tax within School District 61.

A city finance committee delegation, including Mayor Percy Scurrell, went into a special meeting on school costs with a provincial cabinet committee today still shocked by the inevitability of an uncontrollable tax increase.

There's no way to fight it except to argue again with Education Minister Peterson and his colleagues that the municipalities need relief," said Mayor Scurrell.

The increase will not be shared by the provincial government under its present formula — which means an increase of about 12 per cent in the school taxes coming up for Greater Victoria.

The over-all increase in next year's total levy — combining general and school taxes — will be about 5 per cent in the city and about 3 1/2 per cent in the outlying municipalities.

"This is a heavy blow to us," said Mayor Scurrell. "It means once again that necessary public works will have to be postponed — possibly needed work on roads, lighting, streets and parks."

"We'll certainly discuss it at today's meeting because it is bound to increase the unfair differential now working against the city of Victoria in relation to school costs."

'Province Should Take Over Pay'

William Gelling, finance chairman of the school board, who participated in unsuccessful negotiations preceding the arbitration, said the award pointed up the "absolute need" for a government-operated central bargaining agency.

"I think the provincial government should take over the whole business of teachers' salaries because that is the only possible way of exercising any control."

"Trustees just don't have any real control because, with the 82 individual school districts, our throats are cut before we start. What happens on salaries in another district affects us directly, yet we have nothing to say about it."

The Reeves of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt all said the tax increase will result in cutbacks of needed public works. They called for a change in government policy to overcome the cost problem.

Maj.-Gen. Muri-son, immediate past-president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, and author of the famed Muri-son Formula adopted by the UBCM for a new deal for municipalities, said the government should pay 100 per cent of school operating costs as a long-term aim.

But immediate action should include establishment of a
